

THOMPSON 'DIDN'T GET ONE DOLLAR FROM CONTRACTS'

Declaration of St. Louisian's Attorney to Jury in Opening of Veterans' Hospital Case Trial.

"MORTIMER'S STORY AN INVENTION"

Assertion of Forbes' Counsel in Defense of Former Head of Veterans' Bureau.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, Nov. 28.—Attorney Randolph Laughlin of St. Louis, representing John W. Thompson, contractor of St. Louis and Chicago, followed Col. James R. Easby-Smith, counsel for Charles R. Forbes, with a statement of the case in favor of his client in the trial of Thompson and Forbes, former head of the Veterans' Bureau, today. Forbes and Thompson are tried on charges of defrauding the United States Government on veterans' hospital contracts.

Thomas Laughlin declared, never got a dollar from the Government through contracts for the Veterans' Bureau. Laughlin said Thompson had no interest in the Pontiac Construction Co. or in its contracts except through a "friendly agreement" and that due to the fact that Thompson had furnished a certified check on a contract bid for "Jim" Black and which Black failed to get. "That was the only connection 'Jack' Thompson ever had with any Veterans' Bureau contract," Laughlin stated.

"The Government," he said, "charges that there was a conspiracy to split profits. As a matter of fact, contractors took and again lost money on their jobs because of the vigorous administration of Col. Forbes. The Pontiac Co. lost $21,000 on the Northampton Hospital, the Hurley-Mason Co. lost $40,000 at American Lake, Wash., and there were others."

Rise to Millions.

The attorney sketched Thompson's life in his rise from humble beginning to the millionaire class. His fortune, he said, had come from railroad contracts and its size removed him from temptation, so that he had no incentive to be crooked.

The firm of Thompson & Black, which figures so largely in the indictment, he declared, was organized to construct the Burlington Terminal in Chicago, and that was their only job under that firm name.

Laughlin derided the suggestion that the contractors could have any early knowledge of sites for the hospitals. Award of contracts, he also said, were left by Col. Forbes to a board of army experts.

The jury heard how Thompson had financed personally the construction of Camp Cody, an army cantonment in New Mexico. The jurors heard how he loaned money without security and on the recommendation of friends without personal investigation.

The jurors heard how he always worked on a "cost-plus" basis in his railroad contracts because the road knew and trusted him.

Because of his widely-known honesty, the attorney declared, Thompson could borrow $2,000,000 in any one of half dozen big cities if needed to complete his contracts.

Mortimer Early Witness.

Elas H. Mortimer will be an early witness for the Government. John W. H. Crim, special Attorney-General in charge of the prosecution, stated today. Evidence probably will not be submitted before Monday. Mrs. Mortimer, wife of the star witness, and all probability will not be seen by the Government, although the defense declared they did not know whether they would use her as a witness.

Mortimer's interest in the prosecution of Forbes was characterized to the jury before Federal Judge Carpenter today as due to "hostility engendered through the interference of Forbes in the domestic life of Mortimer."

Forbes discovered such frauds when he took over the Veterans' Bureau, his counsel said, as the filling of veterans' teeth with brass instead of gold, by grafting dentists and the effort of vocational schools to teach ex-servicemen how to become sword swallowers.

$2,000,000 SWINDLER IN HIS DISGUISE

KORETZ TURNS OVER $200,000 IN CANADIAN ASSETS

Voluntarily Assigns All of Them Except "Pinehurst" Property to Trustees of Estate in U. S.

By the Associated Press.
HALIFAX, N. S., Nov. 28.—Leo Koretz, arrested here on a charge of swindling Chicagoans of huge sums, appeared before a commissioner under the bankruptcy act yesterday and voluntarily assigned all his assets in this country to the Boston Trust Co., acting for the Chicago Title and Trust Co., trustees of the Koretz estate in the United States.

Chester Davis of the Chicago company, and two attorneys, Andrew Hoover and Bernard Nath, were present and Commissioner Cummings pointed out to the prisoner that he was declaring his assets voluntarily. Koretz made a detailed statement and answered all questions readily. His total estate, as declared, amounted to something over $200,000, exclusive of the "Pinehurst" estate.

The prisoner was much improved in appearance when he appeared in court, and his jailer said he was a model prisoner every day. A meeting of trustees of the estate was held yesterday, and the Government feels that it has the position so hand that spreading of the disorders to Egypt is improbable.

ZAGLLOU'S FRIENDS IN CAIRO ARRESTED

By JOHN L. BALDRESTON, London Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and New York World. (Copyright, 1924.)

LONDON, Nov. 28.—The arrest by British soldiers of a former Egyptian cabinet officer and the threatened arrest of former Premier Zaglou Pasha created a sensation in Cairo yesterday and a crisis in the present Egyptian cabinet of Ziwar Pasha.

Three Ministers threatened resignation because several prominent Egyptians were arrested as the men behind the plot to bring against him, whereas in his belief, had the prisoner fought extradition and lost he could have been tried only upon the charge under which he was extradited.

Electon of Curtis.

The election of Curtis to the leadership and of Watson as whip were both by unanimous vote. When the conference convened as Senator Warren of Wyoming, as senior member present, took the chair and announced he was not a candidate for the leadership. The election of Curtis followed immediately.

Upon his election as leader Curtis resigned as a member of the committee on committee. Senator Smoot of Utah was named in his place and Senator Reed of Pennsylvania was appointed on that committee to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Senator Brandege of Connecticut. Watson was named chairman of the committee.

Senator Curtis requested the committee to meet in the immediate future to fill various vacancies on the standing committees including the chairmanships of the foreign relations and the judiciary committees. It is the purpose to report early next month.

The new Republican leader, in accepting the post told his colleagues that it was his intention to have periodical meetings of the Senate steering committee and party conferences for the discussion of legislation.

First a Senator in 1907.

The new Republican leader first came to the Senate in 1907, having been elected to fill the unexpired term of J. R. Burton. He failed of renomination in 1912 but was again elected in 1914 and re-elected in 1920. His term will expire March 4, 1927.

Before coming to the Senate Curtis served 12 years in the House, being first elected to the 53d Congress.

Place Redistribution.

Prediction that questions of seniority and redistribution of committee assignments would be taken immediately upon convening of the Sixty-ninth Congress was made by Senator Pepper of Pennsylvania after the conference had broken up.

"The resolution (reading the insurgents out) was not the result of precipitate action following a signal party victory," he said. "The question is not a personal one and the action taken will not be misunderstood by the Senators affected."

"It was rather a declaration of a principle of party organization essential to the functioning of the Republic. Senator Pepper is a team to support the administration.

"Speaking for myself, I feel so strongly about the matter that I should have been reluctant to go to Pennsylvania and face the Republican voters of that State unless some such action as this had been taken."

Man Found Dead in Pond.

By the Associated Press.
BALTIMORE, Md., Nov. 28.—The mutilated body of Francis Flock, 79 years old, a resident of Lansdowne, a suburb, was found in a pond near that place today. Trials about the pond and the condition of the body led to belief that the man had been slain elsewhere. No motive is known.

Reed to Argue Tax Case.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 28.—Senator James A. Reed of Missouri will argue the publishers' side of the right of newspapers to publish income tax returns. Senator Reed was retained as chief of counsel today by the Kansas City Journal.

Post in its defense of indictments brought against Walter S. Dickey, its owner, and Ralph Ellis, its general manager.

GRAND-LEADER

Beaded Bags

$5.00

BEADED Bags of this sort readily suggest themselves as Christmas gifts that will find enthusiastic welcome. They are made by hand, mounted on durable filigree frames and display in their beaded designs many unusual color effects. Attractively priced as a Saturday offering. (Main Floor.)

Gift Handkerchiefs

Special, Box, $1

ONE of our most attractive and popular Christmas offerings is this box, containing three dainty kerchiefs of linen or sheer batiste, cleverly embroidered to imitate real Madeira work, with one-corner designs in white or colors. The value is unusual and you should make your selections early.

Special Box at 50c

Three handkerchiefs of sheer lawn, effectively embroidered in colored designs. Others with colored woven borders and embroidered corners are equally attractive.

Handkerchiefs at 15c Each

Very special values are offered in Handkerchiefs of sheer batiste. Cleverly executed machine embroidery appears in unusual designs and color effects, closely simulating hand work. There are also applique designs and color effects in burnt-out patterns that are most unusual. We suggest gift selections while these values are available. (Main Floor.)

Silk Lingerie, $4.95

FAIRYLAND

25c Entitles Them to a Package From Santa's Hands

In the heart of this fascinating Fairyland, Santa Claus has his stronghold, and to see him, kiddies take a mysterious journey through winding pathways, past shining turrets and finally by Santa's animal guardians, to come face to face with the jolly Santa himself. In exchange for their 25c tickets, obtainable at the entrance, he will present each one with a surprise package. Diseases traced to constipation are get permanent relief with Kellogg's

Why does constipation breed other diseases? Because it floods your system with dangerous poisons. And the longer you suffer, the more poisons accumulate. That is why constipation should be relieved at once.

Doctors recommend Kellogg's Bran, cooked and crumbled. They know it brings results because it is ALL bran.
And only ALL bran can be 100 per cent effective in relieving constipation.

Eat Kellogg's Bran,
crumbled with milk
over other cereals hot cereals. In the recipes give

ALL bran—Kellogg's—sweeps, cleans and purifies the intestine. It acts as nature acts. It makes the intestine function naturally and regularly. If eaten regularly, it will bring permanent relief in the most chronic cases of constipation—is guaranteed to do so or your money.

Eat at least daily—in chronic cases. You will feel the results.

SAYS CITY SHOULD CONTROL SERVICE
OF STREET CARS

Consulting Engineer Declares Franchises Have Not Sufficiently Protected
People's Interest.

The city of St. Louis should reserve the right in any new franchise it grants to the United Railways Co., after reorganization, to direct the kind and extent of street car and bus service to be provided by C. E. Smith, consulting engineer for the city, said today.

A new franchise is being sought by reorganization interests of the railway company now that the financial plan of reorganization has been completed. Announcement of the plan in New York, Wednesday, confirmed details and is based upon the proposition that the Public Service Commission will permit the new company to earn 7 per cent on a $57,200,000 valuation. The funded debt is reduced from $44, 890,000 to $48,800,000, and fixed charges are cut down from $2, 12,880 to $1,827,000.

Want Service Co-ordinated.
Service at cost will be the central theme of the new franchise and it is probable the city will be empowered to appoint a Street Railway Commissioner to represent the city in the operation of the properties.

Co-ordination of street cars and buses is regarded as necessary by Engelbert Smith and an attempt will be made to include it in the provisions of the new grant. Smith said the ownership of the Peoples Motorbus Co. need not change hands, but that the city should reserve to itself the right to order transfer privileges to street cars.
John A. Ritchie, president of the Chicago Motor Coach Co., which owns the Peoples company, has stated that this is "economically impossible."

The city has not protected its interests sufficiently in granting franchises in the past," Smith said.
"It should be in a position to direct the service to be supplied to any locality where the need is apparent.
If the traffic will not justify street car service buses should be employed."

New Franchise for 50 Years.
The several franchises now held by the United Railways expire at different dates, Smith said, with the majority of them terminating in 1933, although the Olive street line franchise runs until 1942. He said a new franchise probably would run for 50 years, the limit allowed under the charter.

In the event of disagreement between the city and the company over service or other matters related to operation or purchase of materials and supplies, Smith said, appeal should be permitted to the State Public Service Commission or the city and the company will be authorized to name a third party to sit in the case and arbitrate the matter.

It is expected the Reorganization Committee and the city will confer early next week. Mayor Kiel's position on the matter has been that the people must vote upon any new franchise before it shall be accepted.

The financial plan will shortly be submitted formally to the Federal Court for approval.

Ford Plant at Antwerp Closed.

ANTWERP, Nov. 28.—The Ford

automobile plant, which supplied Belgium, Holland, Germany, Luxembourg and Switzerland, was closed last night because of the new Belgian tariff, which officials of the plant say, makes import duties prohibitive. Produc-

TERMINAL CO. USING TRACTORS FRENCH 'IMMORTALS' ELECT
Transfer Concern Finds Motors Better for Its Hauling.

The Columbia Terminal Company has replaced its truck horses and wagons with motor tractors and trailers. The transfer company, which has been in business for almost 70 years, has found that 425 tractors do the work of the 425 horses formerly used. In addition to the tractors, the company has purchased 336 trailers.

Due to its gradual elimination of horses for motors, the Terminal has now but 15 horses left. They are in stable awaiting purchasers.

FIRST PAINTER TO ACADEMY
Albert Besnard, 75-Year-Old Artist, Among Three Chosen by Votes of 28 Members.

By the Associated Press.
PARIS, Nov. 25.—Three more "immortals," as the members of the French Academy are designated, were created yesterday. Death having claimed six of the 40 members, four more having not yet been officially received into the august body and two being unable to be present, there were only 28 to vote in the elections.

After six ballots, Georges Leconte, president of the French Authors' Society for the last 10 years, was elected from among six candidates, to the place of Frederic Masson, who died last December.

Emile Picard, mathematician, was elected in the place of Charles de Foucault, who died in May 1922. The third place in the lot is to be filled by Albert Besnard, 75-year-old artist, who has the distinction of being the first painter ever to enter the French Academy.

Belle Bennett Weds Director.

By the Associated Press.
LOS ANGELES, Nov. 28.—Belle Bennett, actress of the stage and screen and Fred Wimberly, motion picture director, were married here yesterday. Immediately after the ceremony they left for a brief honeymoon tour, planning a return within a few days to resume work on the films.

THE enclosed check for ten dollars is our final payment on the loan obtained about a year ago. Both my wife and myself wish to thank you for the consideration and courtesy shown us at a time when friendly words meant almost as much as the financial aid."

Specially designed to accommodate any radio receiving set

A Victrola you'll be proud to own!

An aristocrat of talking machines, the Victrola No. 400! Rich hand carving, gold fittings and Victor craftsmanship have given extraordinary distinction to this art model Victrola. The influences of such famous designers as Adam, Hepplewhite and Sheraton are introduced in its design. There is a pleasant relation of old and new which makes it suitable for any music room or living room. The cover is divided, with a drawer for accessories beneath the left half. This Victrola instrument may be obtained specially designed for the installation of radio receiving sets.

MAN IS KILLED
WHEN AUTO SKIDS
ON MELTING SNOW

Machine Goes Over 10-Foot Embankment on the Olive Street Road, Overturning Twice.

DEAD.
Henry J. Schrauder, 36, of 1559
Alice avenue.

Henry Ruppert, 60 years old, of East St. Louis.

INJURED.
Wilfred Stark, 34, of 1123 Hickory street, fractured skull, lacerated scalp and contusions.

Albert Miller, 23, of 3104A South Compton avenue, serious scalp and scalp wounds.

Thomas English, 22, soldier at Jefferson Barracks, concussion of the brain, internal injuries.

Mrs. Martha Robbins of 3406 Jefferson avenue, internal injuries and scalp wounds.

One man was killed and another seriously injured when an automobile skidded on the melting snow on Olive street road, 7 miles west of Creve Coeur, and plunged over a 15-foot embankment, at 7 a. m.
today. The machine rolled over twice, and a third man, the driver, scraped unharmed.

The occupant who lost his life was Henry Ruppert, 60 years old,
of East St. Louis. Wilfred Stark, 34, of 1123 Hickory street, was injured. They were with Harry Floyd, of East St. Louis, riding to their work as laborers at the new city water plant on the Missouri River. Floyd said the car was moving down the hill at a moderate rate near the edge of the road, when the car skidded abruptly and turned over the embankment.

Floyd crawled from the wreckage and called to another laborer, who helped him carry his companions to another automobile.
Ruppert had been killed by a fracture of the skull, while Stark suffered fracture of the skull, lacerations and internal injuries.

Killed When Auto Collides With Taxicab.

Harry J. Schrauder, 36 years old, a postoffice clerk of 1559
Alice avenue, was killed at 12:15
a. m. yesterday when his automobile crashed into the side of a yellow taxicab at Vandeventer and St.
Louis avenue.

The taxicab, eastbound, was overturned, while Schrauder's working car was wrecked against a post. The cab chauffeur, James Boyle, 29, of 2104 Lincoln avenue, was arrested and released on bond.
He declared Schrauder was moving north at high speed when the collision occurred.

Schrauder's death brings the total toll of motor vehicle fatalities to 165, as compared with 136 during the entire year of 1923.

Driver Scalded When Auto Hits Locomotive and Is Wrecked.

Another postoffice clerk, Albert
Miller, 23, of 3104A South Compton avenue, was seriously injured when his Ford coupe hit the side of an eastbound Missouri Pacific passenger train at Bates street crossing at 7 o'clock last night. Miller's auto was moving east, was wrecked against the side of the locomotive, while the driver was badly burned
by steam. He was taken to St. Anthony's Hospital, where he is under treatment for scalds and severe scalp wounds.

Thomas English, 22, a soldier at Jefferson Barracks, and Mrs. Martha Robbins, 3406 Jefferson avenue, were found lying in the street at Broadway and Horne avenue, St.
Louis County, at 6:30 p. m. yesterday by two St. Louis County farmers who drove them to Alexian Brook Hospital. English said they had been hit by an automobile which failed to stop. He is in serious condition, suffering with confusion of the brain and internal injuries. Mrs. Robbins was treated for lacerations of the scalp.

WITNESS IN SUITS OVER POWER RATES IS DEAD

William Fay Had Said He Paid Laclede Employee to Refuse Contracts.

The death of William Fay, former consulting engineer of the Union Electric Light and Power Co. at his home, 4262 McPherson avenue, Wednesday, eliminates the principal witness in five damage suits for $116,268, filed against the company by manufacturing firms here after Fay published a statement that he had for several years paid a Laclede Gas Light Co. employee $150 per month to refuse electric power contracts in order that the business might be forced to the Union Electric.

The Union Co. at that time received a higher rate for electricity and the suits are based upon a net sum to the plaintiff companies of $11,756. Under the State anti-trust law, the court is empowered to double the damages and the suits ask that it be done.

The suits are pending in the Circuit Court. They were filed Oct. 26, 1921. The complaining companies and the actual rate payment loss alleged in each case are the Wiles-Chipman Lumber Co., $6588.28; Brown Shoe Co., $7708.56; McQuay-Norris Manufacturing Co., $13,421.39; Stark-Indiana Machine Co., $4194.22, and the St. Louis Brass Manufacturing Co., $6843.22.

Gallagher's Statement.

William Gallagher, 4208 West Florissant, superintendent of the electrical department of the Laclede company, admitted later that he had received a total of $100 from Fay in six years, but said it represented fees for private engineering work which they did jointly. He denied that he had accepted money to turn down applications made to his company for power, but said that such refusals were made because the limited capacity of the Laclede plant made it impossible to give the service sought. He later left the company's employ after 30 years of service.

Fay said his action was taken with the consent and direction of North American Co. and Union Electric officials.

Had Been Ill Some Time.
E. W. Forstel, attorney for some of the plaintiff companies, said that Fay's deposition and sworn affidavits would be used in trial of the cases. The Wiles-Chipman Co. suit is set for Dec. 15. Fay, who was 63 years old, had been ill for some time and death was due to heart disease. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Gertrude Fay, and three brothers, one of whom, John L. Fay, residing in St. Louis. Funeral services will be held at the residence tomorrow at 10 a.m. with interment in Oak Hill Cemetery.

LAW LAGS, TAKEN

Negro Pickpocket's Case an Example of How Criminals, Out on Bond, Commit
New Crimes.

WAS AT LIBERTY
PENDING APPEAL

Now Wants to Serve Two-Year Term, Apparently
Hoping to Escape Prosecution for Holdup.

An instance of the law's delay, such as the State Bar Association is striving to correct, and an example of the manner in which criminals at liberty on appeal bond commit new crimes, are furnished by the case of Robert Hill, negro pickpocket, now in the city jail under a two-year penitentiary sentence.

Hill, who has been fighting for two and a half years to keep out of the penitentiary, has lately been trying to get into the penitentiary. He apparently thought that, if he were sent there to serve his short term for pocket-picking, he might escape prosecution as one of the recent robbers of the Farmers' State Bank of Chesterfield, St. Louis County.

Was Arrested in 1922.

Circuit Judge Hamilton has sent an order to the Sheriff's Office, that Hill is not to be sent to the penitentiary until it is known whether he is to be prosecuted in St. Louis County for the bank robbery, which occurred Nov. 12, about $4200 being taken.

Hill, who had been arrested previously on pocket-picking charges, was arrested April 29, 1922, for taking a purse from a passenger on a Broadway car. The owner of the purse lived in Springfield, Ill., but he returned here to prosecute Hill, who was learning that the witness had again appeared against him, forfeited his bond, Oct. 31, 1922. He appeared Dec. 4 and got the bond forfeiture set aside, then obtained a continuance in the following February.

Gave Appeal Bond.

This delay would have worn out the prosecution in some cases, but the prosecuting authorities were especially anxious to convict Hill, who was considered one of the most active of local pickpockets. So when the case was tried in October, 1922, the witness was again present, and Hill was convicted. The Court sentenced him Nov. 21, 1922, to his two-year term. He then gave a $4000 appeal bond, was released, and took the full period of one year permitted by the present procedure for the filing of a bill of exceptions. This period is considered, by many lawyers, as being much longer than is needed in the interest of justice.

Hill was one of two negroes arrested 11 days ago in a tailor shop by a negro city detective, who was informed that they had been dividing a sum of money. The men were identified later by persons who witnessed the bank robbery at Chesterfield.

After Hill was locked up on the robbery charge, a friend of Hill called at the Sheriff's office and asked that Hill be taken to the penitentiary at once, saying he was ready to drop his appeal in the Supreme Court. Deputy Sheriff Heidecker, who had read of Hill's arrest in the robbery case, advised Sheriff Strodtman against complying with the request. The appeal was dismissed, but Hill will remain in the city jail until it is learned what the county authorities intend to do in his case. If convicted of a part in the bank robbery he could be sent to the penitentiary for life.

WOULD ABANDON PLANS FOR ORPHANAGE

Trustees of Woman's Estate Find It Insufficient After 32 Years.

Mrs. Elizabeth Schiller died 22 years ago, bequeathing the bulk of her personal property toward the erection of a Catholic orphanage for girls. She also gave a lot at the northeast corner of Iowa avenue and Wyoming street as a site for the building, and set aside the income of a piece of real estate at Broadway and Sidney street to maintain it.

Ever since the trustees of her estate have found the terms of her will impossible of fulfillment, due to lack of funds. Today Circuit Judge Pearce took under advisement the application of the present trustees, the Rt. Rev. John J. Tannrath and Frank J. Hahn, for authority to abandon plans for the orphanage and turn the assets of the estate over to St. Vincent's Orphanage at Normandy.

The trustees have decided the personal property, now aggregating $15,278, is not enough to erect a modern building that the lot, 10x125 feet, is too small for a site, and that the income from the Broadway and Sidney property, $125 a month, is insufficient to maintain a large building. The orphanage was to have been known as the "Elizabeth Girls' Orphanage Home."

Hahn testified today that a modern orphanage would cost at least $25,000 to build, and $24,000 to maintain each year, the last figure being the annual maintenance expense of St. Vincent's. He said the diversion of the estate to St. Vincent's would be in accord with the spirit of the will, as that included the orphanage and the children of German parentage. Mrs. Schiller herself was an orphan and of German parentage. She was the donor of the site for St. Elizabeth's Academy, 3401 Arsenal street.

60-A-MONTH CLERK IS HELD

Charged With Embezzlement From Illinois Bank.

CAIRO, Ill., Nov. 28.—Charged in a Federal warrant with embezzling and stealing $200 from the First National Bank of Cairo, Ill., George D. Rich, formerly a clerk in the bank, was held on $10,000 bond for the Federal grand jury at Danville next March, at a preliminary hearing today. A shortage of $6000 or more exists, testimony indicated.

No charge was brought against Rich in connection with the breaking into the bank one night in August, opening of the vault, and an attempt to burn the bank records. Rich, it was followed this attempt to destroy the records. Rich, it was said, had been employed at the bank for more than a year as a clerk at $60 a month, was discharged several weeks prior to the burglary, which he denies, together with the embezzlement charge, when directors of the institution said he was spending too much money for a $60-a-month clerk, and recently had paid cash for an expensive automobile. The youth alleged his father gave him the money for the car.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—Secretary of Commerce Hoover, in his annual report to the President, made public yesterday, emphasizes the need for a national campaign of waste from the national economic system. Citing statistics of traffic accidents for 1923—accidents which caused the deaths of 12,000 persons, the injury of 673,000 and an economic loss of $600,000,000—Secretary Hoover declares that "the most challenging of all wastes is the waste of human life." He has called a conference at street and highway safety to meet at the Department of Commerce next month.

The department has undertaken a report says, a definite national program for the reduction of waste.

The activities of the department in its direction are based on co-operation with industry and commerce, and none of them leads to internal ends."

Truth in Industry.

"The need," says Hoover, "is that the American standard of living is the product of high prices to producers and low prices to consumers. The road to national progress lies in increasing real wages through proportionately low prices. The one and only way to achieve this is to improve methods and processes and to eliminate waste."

"Just as 20 years ago, we undertook nationwide conservation of natural resources, so now we must undertake nationwide elimination of waste. Regulation and laws of but minor effect on these factors will have a wider and deeper economic effect by cooperation in the community, we can only maintain American standards of living—we can raise them."

"We have the highest ingenuity and efficiency in the operation of industry and commerce of any nation in the world. Yet our economic machine is far from perfect. There are legions. There are wastes which arise from widespread unemployment during depressions, from speculation and over-production in booms; wastes arising from poor conditions of work, of poor conditions of wastes in products; wastes in materials, arising from lack of efficient processes; wastes by fire, and wastes in human life."

Aid to Building Trades.

"Against these and other wastes the department, acting always in co-operation with the industries, for the past three years developed an increasingly definite program."

The Secretary reviews the work of the National Conference on unemployment, 1923, and says that the report on "Unemployment and the Business Cycle" did much to curb the beginnings of a dangerous boom in the spring of 1923.

A second committee from the unemployment conference undertook the study of seasonal operation in the construction industries. This committee made its report last July.

The report showed conclusively that custom, not climate, is mainly responsible for the seasonal ups and downs in building, and that these evils are largely unnecessary and can be eliminated," says Hoover.

For most types of construction it is now possible to build the year round in all parts of the United States. The elimination of these wastes would strengthen the entire business structure, for construction is the balance wheel of American industry. The value of yearly construction in the United States is more than $15,000,000,000. If building falls off, there is always a slackening in many other lines of industry, resulting in unemployment, decreased purchasing power of employees and further depression.

Better Mining Situation.

The report then turns to the famous Chicago stockyards. One morning I crossed the wooden bridges above the thousands of pens in which were packed animals gathered from all the Amer-

PARIS.

THE mechanism of American production has often been described. Nobody has done it with more authority than Victor Gollancz in his useful book, "The United States and France." If the law of progress is true, we believe, tend to make of man a guardian of machines; if the interest of the employer, as of the worker, is to liberate the worker from animal tasks; if the advance of a civilization measures itself partly by the efforts made in this direction, the United States can give to our sleep routine many copious lessons. One scarcely ever sees there, as I see about me, a personnel overburdened and often embittered by the lack of indispensable telephone facilities.

Machines Almost Human.

Machines are distributed and renewed with such an abundance as is necessary to obtain the maximum return. Some among them are so ingenious that one is tempted to endow them with intelligence at least as much intelligence as have many people one encounters. They imitate and reproduce at the same time amplifying, the movements of life. And they quicken the rhythm.

There is a magnificent book to be written with the title, "Philosophy of American Mechanism." It would show how material things tend to become alive. Everything must be done quickly. The old saying, "Time is money," is now obsolete.

Then begins the rule of the animals before the various operators, each one of which has his special task. It is Taylorized to the absolute limit. This one splits the chest of the animal with one blow of his ax. Another lops off his head. There is something pitiful in this slow strife. Six minutes after being killed the pig is completely prepared to enter the cold chamber, where it will remain 24 hours to lose its porky odor; then will be stamped and go into the refrigerator, where it will remain another 24 hours.

Details of the Operation.

Here is the detail of the operation. The beast is cut into six parts, which block conveyors carry toward the lower chambers. A white-clad negro, with two blows of his knife, cuts off the ham. Circular saws cut off the feet. A special knife, with a double handle, separates the loin from its greasy envelope. Rollers grip the prepared morsels. The workmen must follow, without losing a second the work of the machine. It is impossible to reveal their existence by any outward signs visible from the street, but are relegated to the interior of buildings and as far hidden from the public as though they were a menace to the life and morals of the community.

Air is Stifling.

One literally stifles here. The lack of space, the crowding, make working conditions which must be painful for the mechanics assembled elbow to elbow. The bridges built to connect the different services pass above the machines which the workmen toll so tightly packed that they have no freedom of gesture.

The movement and the noise pass all imagination. The noise especially. One has the impression that the aptitude of the effort demanded of them has surprised the creators of the enterprise.

King Virtually a Prisoner.

Obviously, necessarily, much more than a mental conception, has created these methods. They must produce much, while labor is scarce. It is for that reason, for example, that in their hotels one finds a thousand little ingenious inventions which eliminate gesture as an intermediary. It is that which does not go with the odious practices which among themselves paralyze activity. Even Government departments are organized and act as industries. Years are necessary in our country to construct a public building, a hospital, an abattoir, or a Government factory. We have never been able to modernize the national library whereas in a few years the United States has multiplied sumptuous public libraries by the thousand.

The most urgent matters here in France are the creation of the universities, a sure means of exercising their occult influence over the whole country. To be a Protestant or merely to be non-Catholic is in Spain considered a disgrace which must be carefully concealed.

Non-Catholic churches are not allowed to reveal their existence by any outward signs visible from the street, but are relegated to the interior of buildings and as far hidden from the public as though they were a menace to the life and morals of the community.

Dangerous to World Peace.

Both the directorate—should it maintain its power—and Alfonso XIII, should he remain on the throne, are dangerous to the world's peace. Alfonso is friend of the Krupp firm—or any firm, for that matter, willing to give him a rafe-off. The lighting by mercury vapor lamps seemed to me hideous. Too much encumbered, also was the hall in which the trains were stashed between the six-story buildings dominated by the traveling cranes. But in this on-factory they make every day detached parts for 6500 motor cars. They mount 500 cars, and they hope to reach the figure of 3,000,000 vehicles per year.

SPANISH BLOCKADE
IN MOROCCO PLANNED

Rivera Asserts Troop Withdrawal Will Continue Until Defense Line Is Set Up.

By the Associated Press.

MADRID, Nov. 28.—Gen. Primo Rivera, president of the military directorate in Spain and at present in supreme command of the Spanish forces in Morocco, has said in an interview with the correspondent of the Madrid newspaper ABC, at Tetuan, that the withdrawal of the Spanish forces from their positions in Morocco would continue for many weeks and until a definite line of defense had been established.

The plan of the Spaniards consists of a armed and economic blockade of the Spanish zone in Morocco. Spanish land, sea and air forces are being concentrated along the coast, which is to be fortified so as to be a virtually impregnable wall to keep out smugglers and Moorish rebels.

As regards the French zone in Morocco, Rivera said this angle of the situation was being studied and would soon be attended to.

The consolidation of the new Spanish line, according to Rivera, will take not less than six years.

Helpful Agencies in St. Louis.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

THE young woman whose communication entitled "One Young Woman's Experience," printed in your columns of the 26th, offers a challenge to all right-thinking men. This "most unhappy girl" is to be commended for holding to her principles, however hard it may be for a strong will to find a way, and virtue will be rewarded.

But why does she ask "are all men beasts?" Her narrow experience has thrown her in contact only with the riffraff. Let her meet some of the heads of big business in St. Louis; some bank presidents, manufacturers—men whose chief duty is to promote enterprises for thousands to earn an honest living. Let her meet the noble physicians, the teachers, the clergy, the social service workers.

There is a hopeful aspect, and that is that there are agencies operating to build up character. The Community Fund is backing the Y. W. C. A., the Y. M. C. A. and others, because they prevent evil.

Boarding and Leaving Street Cars.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

REFERRING to your editorial, "The Boulevard Peril," setting forth the dangers that beset the street car parson who must board the car and leave the car in mid-street, I feel that this is, and has been one of the greatest problems facing the street railways and the various traffic and safety councils throughout the country.

The most vital defect of the electric trolley system in surface transportation is the fact that this vehicle accepts and discharges its patrons in the middle of the street, at the logical point, which is at the curb. Every street city gives the trolley lines a certain space in mid-street, designating that space a "safety zone"; the problem is not solved, because the car patrons both in leaving and boarding the car must go through the precarious ordeal of trying to safely negotiate the traffic laden space that lies between the "safety zone" and the curb. This mid-street loading and unloading is a cruddy that must be eliminated. Many lives have already been sacrificed to it and many more will be snuffed out until these antiquated methods are corrected.

The trolley lines cannot further dodge the issue. Right now, the leaving of passengers in safety at the curb has gone a long way toward popularizing its competitor, the motorbus, and if they wish to prevent their vehicle going to the discord, they must bring their service to the patrons they would serve, at the one logical place of safety, which is at the curb. The matter is difficult in solution, but very far from an impossibility, and a little broad-mindedness and intelligence will save lives, permit free movement of traffic and disentangle the mass of traffic tie-ups in congested areas.

Increased Cost of Home-Owning.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I HAVE noticed your advice that everybody should live in their own homes. I live in a six-room house; no income; small 5x12 foot; can't raise more than two children because more would not be supported properly or respectfully. Now, why do I have to pay $4.45 for sprinkling (I never saw any sprinkling), and $150 taxes and $10 water license and $540 interest and what not and the license is creeping up fearfully. In 1923 paid $30 for one place in taxes. What happened since 1917? SUBSCRIBER.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I READ your editorial in Saturday's paper in regard to the city's great task, and I agree with you it is a great task and we ought to go in it with our eyes wide open.

I have been a Democrat all my life. After the returns here Nov. 4 it looks bad for the Democrats next spring, and I have about made up my mind that if we can't elect a Democrat and we must have a Republican, let us support the best man in that party—L. P. Abo. Mr. Abo is a man of high moral and civic affairs in the city; has a world of experience; he is progressive; his integrity is unquestionable; he has held more important positions than any man in the city, and has conducted them all with credit to himself and the city. He is the best qualified man in either party for the office of Mayor. Elect him Mayor and you will make no mistake.

PRACTICAL JUDICIAL REFORM.

Chief Justice Taft of the United States Supreme Court evidently believes in the saying that delay of justice is denial of justice, and in taking practical steps to minimize delay in court proceedings. He has sent out letters to all Federal District Judges, embodying the changes worked out by the Judicial Conference of Senior Circuit Judges.

The changes in rules approved by the conference and promulgated by the Chief Justice touch only the surface of the causes of delay in legal procedure in the courts. They relate chiefly to continuances of cases, either by agreement of counsel or by excuses of various kinds. The Judges were asked to adopt the rule providing that in a case which might have, but has not, been brought to trial within a year, the Judge shall give 30 days' notice, and if no action is taken within that time the case shall be dismissed.

Another rule would cut out delays from one term to another by agreement of counsel, and by excuses based upon other engagements by counsel. The Judges are urged to accept no excuses except for good cause, shown by affidavits, such as sickness or unavoidable absence of important witnesses.

Suggestion is offered that times be set for the hearing of motions and the settlement of issues, and that no postponement of such matters shall be permitted except for good cause. A reform is suggested in the selection of jurors by the Judges assuming the task of questioning the jurors and having questions which counsel desire to ask submitted to the Judge.

These are obvious reforms. They strike at the efforts of counsel to cause delays, the dillydallying of lawyers and the careless acquiescence of Judges in delay devices. They do not go into the deeper causes of delay found in complicated methods of procedure and rules adopted and put into the laws by Legislatures. The changes constitute, however, a practical, substantial reform. It is an excellent step in the right direction.

The rules urged by Chief Justice Taft should be adopted not only in Federal but in state courts. The effect of the changes is not only good in itself, but will encourage the movement for reform of legal procedure everywhere. It emphasizes the need of reform. It should lift life and energy into the effort of our own bar association to obtain a thorough survey and to find remedies for the evils of delay and inefficiency in our State courts.

SUCCEED AND DRESS WELL.

Governor-elect Baker's mysterious visit to St. Louis has been explained. When he came without apprising the politicians in advance and without phoning them on his arrival and holding the usual levee the best minds were baffled. "What kind of a bird is this Baker?" they wanted to know.

A bird of brilliant plumage is the answer. Mr. Baker's St. Louis mission was sartorial. He conferred with a tailor—a persuasive tailor, too, if the reported inventory is correct. Business suits, the indispensable frock coat, with striped trousers, evening clothes and the admiring competent "tux"—such was the equipment ordered by Mr. Hyde's successor.

Our merchants have for several weeks been stressing the value of good clothes. Their slogan, savored with efficiency, is designed to appeal to cupidity as well as sheer beauty. "Dress well and succeed" is their practical, solicitous message. Mr. Baker vindicates it in reverse. The moral of his career is "Succeed and dress well."

A COMEDY OF SCOUNDRELS.

Reflections on the British blackmail case. What element has been introduced within the last day or so to change the proceedings from mediocrity, with a touch of the sinister, into roaring farce? Consider the cost of the millions of bayonets manufactured for our troops in the World War a fair estimate of the value of the hundreds of millions of hours spent in bayonet training. To this add a sum representing the labor of overladen men carrying the weapons innumerable miles over wet French roads in the rain. Divide the total by the number of enemy soldiers killed by our bayonets and it would probably be found that each one of them had cost more than $1,000,000. That is too much for the mixture of finance and tactics which makes up modern war.

Probably because it becomes more and more apparent that there is no genuine tragedy. It is hard to get worked up when nobody's heart is wrung; drama doesn't develop that way. The mulled Rajah could spare the money. Instead of being a tragic victim he seems a ridiculous dupe. His persecutors, instead of appearing as dark villains, take on a picare al- still far from admirable, they are amusing. Indeed, Montague Noel Newton, the star witness, is an incomparably gifted comedian; he is the nearest thing to Blackie Daw of the Wallingford stories that has ever been seen in real life. When, after counsel gives him a specially vicious dig, he says he accepts the apology, it is no wonder the Judge laughed. When he raises his hand to heaven and declares he never said he was an honest man, but wishes to God he could, it is time for us all to laugh. Sir William S. Gilbert couldn't have made it funnier.

THE FRUITS OF RAIL REGULATION.

The fundamental question of the Government's ability to regulate railroad rates seems to have crept into an appeal of the Delaware & Hudson and other Eastern railroads in the Supreme Court of the United States. The roads are seeking judicial review of the rate valuation given their lines by the Interstate Commerce Commission. They contend that without such review they will suffer irreparable injury. It is also charged that the valuation work of the commission has been unlawful because of the failure to include certain items specified by Congress.

Attorneys for the commission refute, one by one, all of the roads' contentions. The Court, in its questionings, indicated a desire to be shown why it should be asked to intervene prior to the final valuation which would be subject to judicial review. Counsel for the commission made the effective point that interference of the courts before the final valuation would deprive the commission of its intended function and turn its work over to the courts.

Undue interference of the judiciary would practically put an end to regulation of rates on the valuation principle for the reason that the purpose of valuation would be defeated by delay.

On the face of a statement just issued by the American Railway Association from New York, the railroads are unwarranted in any general plea of unfair treatment by the commission. According to this statement the total reduction in freight rates ordered by the commission since 1921 amounts to $1,373,000,000. Despite this terrific reduction, the railroads at the present time, says the statement, "are furnishing the most satisfactory service ever given in their history, both from the standpoint of car supply and prompt movement of the loaded traffic." The improvement program of the carriers for 1923 and 1924 reaches the tremendous sum of $213,446,426.

The railroads appear not to be doing so badly under the regulatory power of the Interstate Commerce Commission. "Let well enough alone" is a rule which might be applied as appropriately to the railroads themselves as to their political assailants.

Prices have been too low, says Judge Gary. Wonder why he and the party of big business were not saying this before election.

MORE BULLETS AND FEWER BAYONETS.

Major-General Farnsworth, chief of infantry in the United States Army, recommends that instruction in the use of the bayonet be abandoned at army camps. He recommends that the time thus saved be devoted to target practice with the rifle.

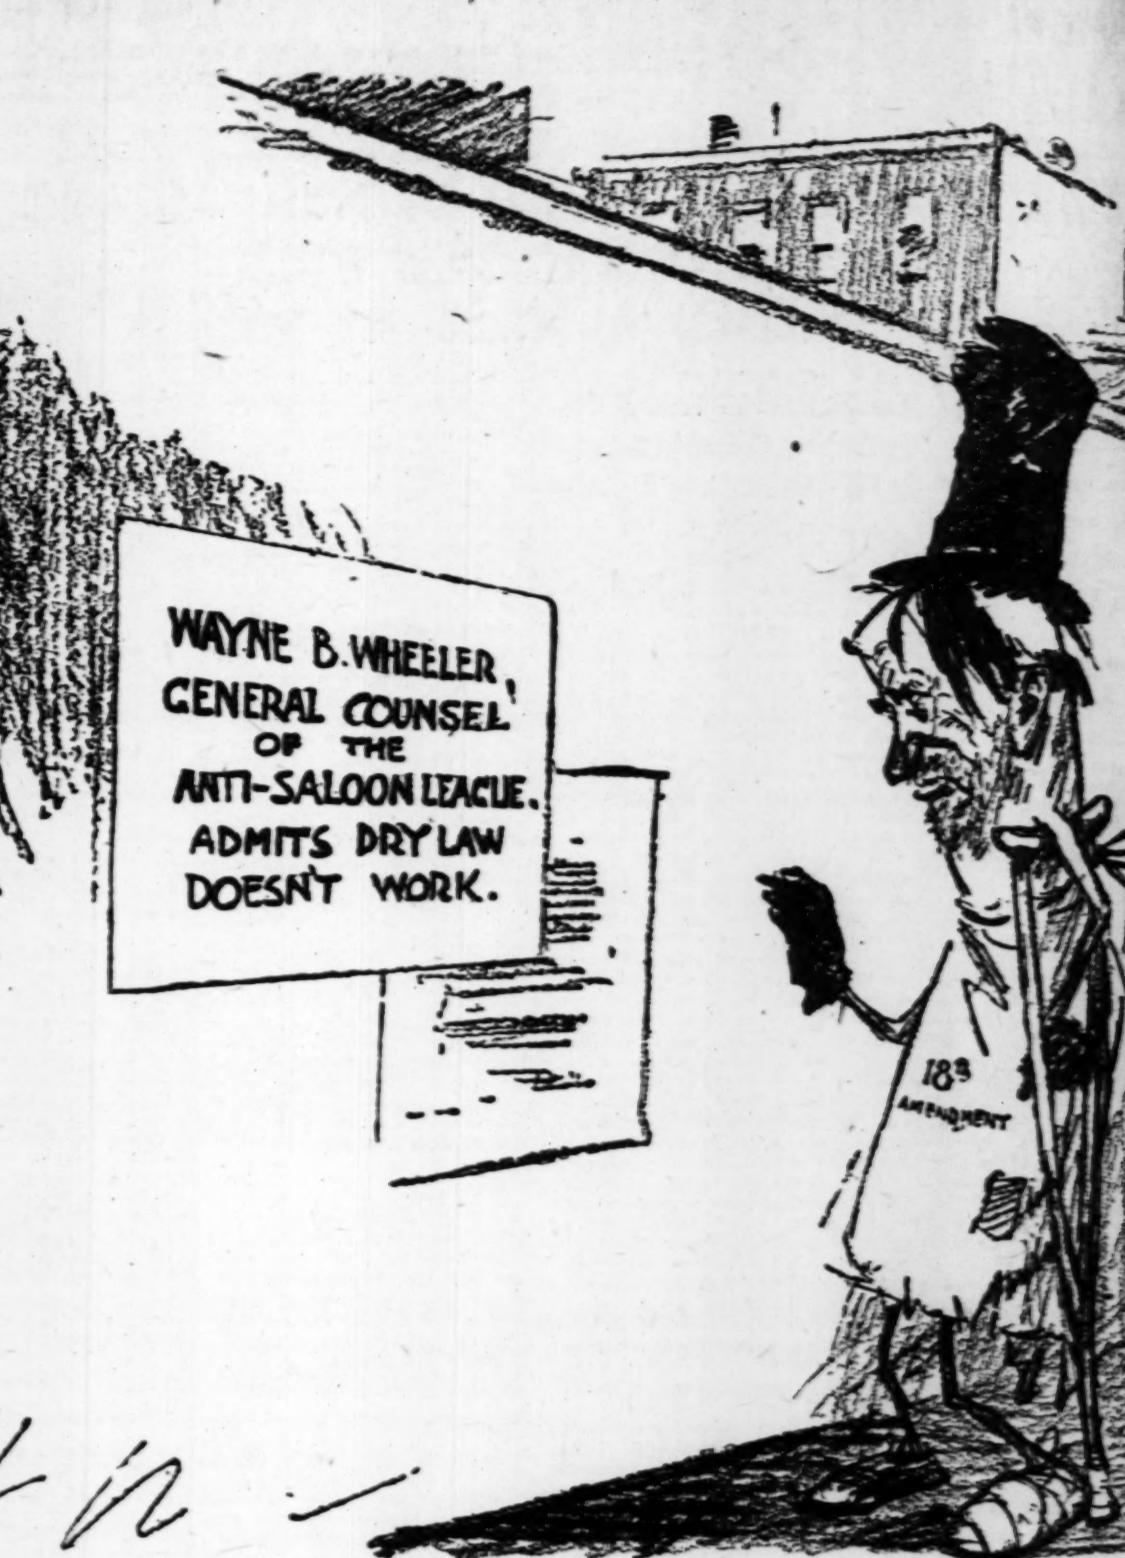

It is a sound recommendation. The bayonet has steadily declined in importance as a factor in warfare as the rifle has increased in accuracy and range. The bayonet now is at the lowest point of value against troops. It can be used, except in the rarest instances, only in the surprise attack and the night attack. The modern science of war keeps opposing infantry units far apart. The bayonet is effective only on contact.

The bayonet is a tradition and our military establishment holds its traditions tenaciously. Add to the cost of the millions of bayonets manufactured for our troops in the World War a fair estimate of the value of the hundreds of millions of hours spent in bayonet training. To this add a sum representing the labor of overladen men carrying the weapons innumerable miles over wet French roads in the rain.

Divide the total by the number of enemy soldiers killed by our bayonets and it would probably be found that each one of them had cost more than $1,000,000. That is too much for the mixture of finance and tactics which makes up modern war.

That is the reason?

Probably because it becomes more and more apparent that there is no genuine tragedy. It is hard to get worked up when nobody's heart is wrung; drama doesn't develop that way. The mulled Rajah could spare the money. Instead of being a tragic victim he seems a ridiculous dupe. His persecutors, instead

HOPE SPRINGS ETERNAL.

One gave a card—a sorry jest—
A mourning card, all draped in black;
It seems to mean that we're at rest—
That we are dead and can't come back;

The true we threw our votes away—
The G. O. P. will celebrate;

But there will come another day—
Just watch our smoke in 'twenty-eight.

The off the booze, they mattered not—
But Hawes got in, I'd have you note;
I'd have all gone to pot;
But then Al Smith got Teddy's goat;

Can make our friend Dawes grow fat;

Then there's Jim Reed—not bad at that—
Just watch our smoke in 'twenty-eight.

There's little left to give or sell—
I hope they leave the White House there,
Will Fall come back? But time will tell
Just how the G. O. P. may fare.

Or honesty we asked no reck—
The big campaign fund carried weight—

But trust they'll get it in the neck
When Al Smith runs in 'twenty-eight.

Sir: I too, am in the deepest sympathy with the poor millionaires who are so destitute they are unable to pay their income taxes. It brings tears to my eyes to know of these poor people who live so lavishly, then think they can plead poverty when it comes to income taxes. And I agree with you that it would be a good idea to do something to relieve the strain from them by lessening their taxes. You will therefore find my contribution of one pencil, also one pretzel enclosed, to add to those four beans. Pretzels contain salt, which will help season the beans, and as to the wash, the stuff you used to drink when you ate pretzels is no more, so they will have to take pure aqua (water), and therefore make a hearty meal for some poor little rich man. In the meantime, I trust the money will be raised for millionaires.

HOPE.

Sir: Apropos receipt of a letter addressed from France to "St. Louis, Mass." The French cognoscenti have evidently associated the name with the Lowell's, Cabots and the like of the sacred cod. Hence our "Saint Louis" planted down in "Mass."

A few years ago Mme. Basot, writing from "La Residence Sociale" in Paris, addressed her letter merely to "Saint Louis." Without more.

After many weeks her letter reached our "St. Louis," forwarded by "St. Louis, Missouri." To the Parisians an unqualified "St. Louis" spelled, in the first instance, the capital of their Senegambian colony.

L. E. S.

Sir: In the dialogue printed in your department last Sunday we have this:

Cincinnatus: He will never chant with open throat until he moves further away from Sahara.

That is farther away from Sahara—a difficulty in the use of words which one may encounter almost anywhere—in literature.

"Farther" relates to distance; "further" is put forward, to promote. That is granting the two words are sometimes almost if not quite synonymous, we are usually further from correctness with "further" than we would be with "farther."

Now let them, since your voice is mute. The limits of all time refuse. Dispel the present with the past. And like a shell the sea has cast To echo on the lonely shore, Within these lines, forevermore. Your spirit live for me.

U.S. VISIT GAVE WALES THRILL OF A LIFETIME

Wells Memories of Subways, Will Rogers and Stockyards at Thanksgiving Dinner.

The Associated Press.

LONDON, Nov. 28.—The Prince of Wales last night declared that his recent visit to the United States "was a thrill that can come only once in a lifetime." The occasion was the annual Thanksgiving dinner of the American Legion Society, which was attended by Frank B. Kellogg, the American Ambassador, and Miss Barbara Bay and Whiteside.

At either end of the table wicker baskets which were trellised with flowers were placed. The Prince gave his impressions of America while he fished characteristically with his white bow tie. He admitted he had a warm regard for Will Rogers, the Woolworth boy, and New York's subways, and that he even delighted in his memories of the Chicago stockyards.

The heir apparent to the British throne dealt with things American in a speech in reply to a toast by Kellogg, which followed a bangalow, the main course of which was a roast turkey and which ended with the usual pumpkin pie.

He referred also to a Thanksgiving dinner given 28 years ago by Victoria to the American Ambassador, which custom at one time or other had been followed by his successors on the throne. In toasting the Prince, Kellogg said he combined the personal and good will of all his predecessors toward the United States.

The Prince then arose to reply. He seemed much embarrassed by the hearty welcome he had received. He fidgeted about and moved from one foot to the other, meanwhile continually plucking at the tie. He told the diners that he thanked them, and the American public through them for "the jolly good time" he had had in America and for the present welcome which he said was a repetition of hundreds of similar ones he had received from Americans in their own country.

U.S. VISIT GAVE WALES THRILL OF A LIFETIME

Wells Memories of Subways, Will Rogers and Stockyards at Thanksgiving Dinner.

Associated Press
LONDON, Nov. 28.—The Prince Wales last night declared that a recent visit to the United States was a thrill that can come only once in a lifetime. The occasion of his declaration was the annual Thanksgiving dinner of the American Society, which was attended by Lord B. Kellogg, the American Ambassador, and Mrs. Kellogg and a large representation of American residents in London.

The Prince gave his impressions of America while he dined officially with the British hosts. He admitted he had a warm regard for Will Rogers, the Woolworth Building and New York's subways, and that he even delighted in his memories of the Chicago stockyards. The heir apparent to the British throne, with things American in a speech in reply to a toast by Rogers, which followed a banquet, the main course of which was turkey and which ended with the usual pumpkin pie. Kellogg regretted the peace and harmony which he said had existed between Britain and the United States for 100 years. He referred also to a Thanksgiving dinner given 28 years ago in Victoria, to the American Ambassador, which custom at some time or other had been followed by her successors on the throne. In toasting the Prince, Kellogg said he combined the friendship and good will of all his predecessors toward the United States and that he was the most enthusiastic person in England in reading about good words for American people.

Three Cheers for Wales. The Ambassador led the guests in giving three cheers for Wales, and when the guests followed the usual custom of singing "For he's jolly good fellow."

HE beauty reflected by hundreds of orchid-tinted chrysanthemums greeted the guests who attended the ball at the St. Louis Club Wednesday night, at which Miss Elizabeth Bemis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William N. Bemis of the Kingbird society, made her formal bow to society.

The balustrades of the short stairway leading from the dining room to the ballroom above were entirely covered with smilax, and the newel posts held huge clusters of the blossoms. Opposite the entrance, in front of the famous mirror which reaches from ceiling to floor, Miss Bemis, her parents, and Miss Barbara Bay and Miss Jane Whiteside, received the guests.

At either end of the long room stood large baskets of flowers which were trussed up the walls. Gift baskets to Miss Bemis flanked the receiving line. An unusual note in the decorations was the riot of color overhead, produced by balloons in various sizes, arranged to simulate large bunches of grapes. They hung from a smilax covered ceiling and bordered the walls for a several foot depth. The orchestra seated on the stage at the west end of the room, was concealed by a screen of palms and orchid chrysanthemums.

The debutante hostess wore an exquisite crystal robe sewn on silver tissue, with flesh colored tulles as a foundation. Bands of embroidery, which were pink rosebuds, ornamented the bodice and were carried on the skirt and a train of pink velvet and silver lace, with a tulip train. Each young woman carried delicate pink roses. Mrs. Whiteside's gown was adorned with gold lace and she carried an orchid tinted fan, with a bouquet of the natural orchids fastened to the stem.

Supper was served from small tables in the dining room at midnight. The table for the debutantes and their escorts, presided over by Miss Bemis, was built high with butterfly roses and smilax, interspersed with silver candelabra holding pink tapers. Other tables seating eight guests, had for their centerpieces orchid chrysanthemums and baskets of the low window sill and doorway.

Miss Bemis is a graduate of Mary Institute and Miss Bennett's School at Millbrook, N. Y., and since the beginning of the season has been one of its most popular buds.

Mmes. J. L. Westlake and A. M. Kelllogg were hostesses at a luncheon, and the girls enjoyed an afternoon complimentary to Miss Mildred North, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Emmet P. North, of the St. Regis apartments. The guests, 12 of this season's debutantes, were Misses Barbara Bay, Jane Whiteside, Elizabeth Bemis, Margaret Eakin, Elizabeth Dyer, Lois Engel, Betty Corby, Jane Thompson, Mary Howell Betts, Mary Louise Cotter and Marjorie Framp-

lin. In the morning, Mrs. Coolidge and her guests attended services at the First Congregational Church, where the Rev. Jason Noble Pierce took as his text Ephesians, V. 20: "Give Thanks Always for All Things," and said the spirit of Thanksgiving should be practiced, not only in November, but at all times. He urged that men not only express thanks, but demonstrated their thankfulness.

Cards were received this morning from Miss Pamela Harrison and Stuart Harrison, debutante daughter and son of Mrs. John W. Harrison, for a dinner at their home, 6371 Waterman avenue, Sunday, Dec. 14.

Mrs. Britton-Browne, of Washington, 110 C. is the guest of Mrs. George R. Wendling, of 4509 Pershing avenue. The visitor has many friends in St. Louis and is being much entertained informally.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Gillette, Allen of Des Moines, Ia., and their two children, are visiting Mrs. Allen's parents, Dr. and Mrs. G. N. Siddle, of 539 Clemens avenue.

Miss Virginia Pittmann Becker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Phil A. Becker, 3463 Longfellow place, will have as her guest during the Thanksgiving holidays, Miss Lucy Brant Altschuler, of Louisville, Ky. A number of receptions and entertainments have been arranged in her honor.

Lieut. Basby's Body Found. By the Associated Press.

WAUKEGAN, Ill., Nov. 28.—The body of Lieut. L. W. Basby, U. S. N., who was drowned in Lake Michigan Wednesday, was found yesterday floating on the water a few feet from the spot where the officer disappeared. A Great Lakes Navy Training Station crew had been dragging the lakeshore for 24 hours before the body was discovered. Burial will be in the naval Cemetery at Annapolis, Md.

Mr. Basby had started to cross Broadway at Sixty-second street, when he was struck by a car driven by Thomas J. Rooney and owned by his wife. Rooney stopped the car and went to the assistance of the stricken man, and with James Norvel, of the Hotel Marie Antoinette, placed him in the car and took him to Roosevelt Hospital. The police report says Basby exonerated the driver.

At the hospital it was said death resulted from internal injuries.

Mr. Rooney was married by his widow, his son, Cyril, and his daughters, Blanche, Frances, wife of Thomas McHugh, movie star, and Miss Julie Ring. McHugh was in constant attendance at the hospital. His father-in-law was to have been the guest of himself and wife over Thanksgiving at Little Neck, L. I.

SHE HATED MARRIAGE, BUT 'AD' MAN SOLD HER THE IDEA

New Former Miss Rita Weiman, Author of Antimarrriage Article, Is on Honeymoon.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—Miss Rita Weiman, author and dramatist, and her husband, Maurice Marks, an advertising man, are on their honeymoon at Briar Cliff Manor, New York, having been married yesterday within seven months after Miss Weiman, who had professed she was a misanthrope, or hater of marriage, had written a magazine article entitled "I Am Still Single Because—."

When the article was accepted it was stated that the author should "not worry until the story was published." The article appeared in October.

At Briar Cliff Manor the bride registered as Miss Weiman above her husband's name, and, in parentheses opposite the names she wrote "Mr. and Mrs."

The story will be both entertaining and educational, according to Mrs. G. E. Millard of 4925A Côte Brilliante avenue, who is secretary of the local branch of the International Roller Canary Breeders' Association. Most of the prima donnas in the show are American-born, but a few of the imported schools will also be Van Buren for San Francisco.

Entries Will Include 100 Songs of American and Imported Breeds.

An international roller canary show will be held tomorrow, Sunday and Monday, from 11 a. m. to 11 p. m., at Musicians' Hall, 3255 Olive street, with 100 singing birds in concert.

disease of the monarchy. Catalan restiveness has long been the excuse for the arbitrary acts of the Government. But no part of Spain, more than Catalonia, has been humiliated by the directorate. Primo de Rivera knew well enough how to throw the brunt of his uprising on the Catalan middle class. But from the very first hour of his success he treated this instrument of his triumph with a cynical brutality past all belief. The Catalan festivities in the course of which Primo de Rivera's cavalry charged the crowd were festivities that Primo de Rivera himself had authorized. But having used Catalan disaffection for his own purposes, the dictator was determined to terrorize the province. His treachery has all but made the breach between this part of Spain and the rest too wide and too deep ever to fill.

But the republic means peace, and order, and education, and respect for liberty and freedom of thought, it means an army that is really a national army, in the service of law and order, an army of soldiers who know their duty, an army purged of adventurers and grafters, an army like the French army, the Swiss, or that of the United States.

In such a state the opposing camps of political opinion could carry on their contests in a spirit of courteous tolerance instead of fighting one another in a relentless war, as they are doing today. Aspirations, which are based on the sufferings of the people, and the crimes committed against them. Our Spanish working-class, now being as brutally bounded as though it were a wild beast, will show that it is no different from the working-class of any other country, once its rights are recognized, once a regime of order and decency and equality in the eyes of the law is established.

The well-to-do classes will no longer have to pour their money into a ridiculous war, and will no longer have to maintain themselves by playing into the hands of the political grafters who are exploiting the nation's resources.

Capital and labor will work side by side as in other civilized countries, neither one perhaps finding a ready fit for their old antagonism, but at least agreeing on their contests without resorting to the crimes of blood which have marked their struggles under the monarchy of Spain.

The various provincial units of Spain will no longer have to expend a large part of their efforts in advancing their claims to autonomy, but, within the elastic limits of a federal republic similar to the Swiss republic or that of the United States, will be able to satisfy their aspirations of independence. And finally, under a republican form of government, presupposing as it does a literate electorate, the Spanish educational system will at least receive the attention and the financial support for lack of which it is now languishing. In no nation of Europe is the shortage of schools so marked as in Spain. According to the most conservative estimates we need at least 60,000 more schools in order to bring our country up to the level of other European nations in more respect of numbers. But we need not only more schools, we need better schools. Needless to say the directorate has not given even a moment's attention to Spain's educational problem.

What He Thinks of His King.

But—I cannot repeat it too often—such a transformation as I have described is possible only provided the King leaves Spain. So long as he remains on Spanish soil, it is sheer nonsense to talk of provisional governments and plebiscites.

Alfonso XIII is a liar, a schemer, a worthy descendant of Ferdinand VII. Nothing he touches escapes contamination. He is like the proverbial patch, that clings and clings.

Under the head of reducing housing costs Mr. Hoover says:

"The high cost of housing construction brought to the front the evils of this transformation as I have described is possible only provided the King leaves Spain. So long as he remains on Spanish soil, it is sheer nonsense to talk of provisional governments and plebiscites.

Alfonso XIII is a liar, a schemer, a worthy descendant of Ferdinand VII. Nothing he touches escapes contamination. He is like the proverbial patch, that clings and clings.

But, lest I do him injustice, let him be brought to trial, when necessary for the elimination of waste in that field as a contribution to lowering costs while maintaining the strength of the community, and so maintaining activity. Aside from the work of the department upon the simplification of building materials, the division of building and housing was established to attack such problems as the development of uniform municipal building codes, the investigation of losses and wastes in financing home building and the study of city and town zoning."

With the co-operation of those directly concerned the division has prepared a standard municipal building code for small houses, recommended plumbing code, and a standard state zoning enabling act which has already been adopted by 13 states. During the past year officials of the department joined with private endeavor to form "Better Homes in America," as an organization for education and public service, under the presidency of Mr. Hoover.

In a section of the report dealing with trade associations Hoover says: "One of most important associations through which the elimination of waste may be promoted is the trade association. It is true that a small minority of these associations in the past used to cloak restraint of trade by such activities as open price associations and other attempts to control distribution or prices. It is equally true that the vast majority of trade associations have no such purpose and do no such things. The division, however, between what activities are in the public interest and what are not in the public interest is not today clearly defined either by the law or by court decision.

"In consequence of recent decisions of the courts, many associations are fearful of proceeding with work of vital public importance, and we are losing the value of much admirable activity. At the same time we are keeping alive the possibility of wrongdoing. It is imperative that some definition should be made by which an assurance of honesty in present conduct may be more vigorously attacked."

"Any collective activity can be used as a smoke screen to cover conspiracy against the public interest, but that is no reason for condemning all collective activities. Just because automobiles are sometimes used by bootleggers for the illegal transportation of liquor we do not prohibit their manufacture or their legitimate use."

DELMAR BOULEVARD TRAFFIC NEED NO LONGER DETOUR

Temporary 20-Foot Roadway Over Culvert at Wabash Tracks Is Thrown Open.

Motor and pedestrian traffic passed over the Delmar boulevard culvert at the Wabash tracks yesterday morning for the first time since the work was begun almost four months ago.

A temporary 20-foot roadway has been built wide enough to accommodate two lines of traffic, one moving in each direction. The culvert is partly finished from north to Delmar boulevard to the approximate middle of the street. Over this work dirt was filled and upon the fill the board roadway was constructed.

The roadway does away with the necessity of a long detour. It will be in use until the culvert is completed or until work on the Delmar viaduct is begun.

City officials hope to begin work on the viaduct as soon as weather opens in the spring, now that the objection of the Wabash Railroad has been cleared away by a recent State Supreme Court decision which upholds the city's contention on the question of the proper grade for the roadway.

Menace to Communism, Kamenef says he will not allow book to pass unchallenged. If exception is taken to the book, added, it might be accepted as a model for young Communists and members of the Communist International.
Kamenef confined his criticism of Trotzky to his self-defense. Stalin, who is a member of the Executive Committee of the Communist party, dwells mainly upon Trotzky. War Minister "heresy" and his alleged adherence of orthodox Party principles. He accuses Trotzky attempting to take Lenin's place for himself. He also urges members of the party to wage a new war against the military, as otherwise Trotzky's may become the concentration point for all nonproletarian elements who strive to disintegrate proletarian dictatorship." Though Trotzky's friends believe that the present movement is designed to render him politically powerless, Stalin says he does not reproach or harshly treat Trotzky's party opponents. He declares no danger in the present tendency of splitting the party, saying "we have only to struggle against Trotzky and eliminate his heretical ideas."

minists and military cadets, the War Minister this time is almost deserted. There are few, even of his avowedly outspoken supporters, who dare take his defense, in few of the all-powerful elements in the communist party which are arrayed against him.

Numerous resolutions are coming in daily from the provincial branches of the Communist party, pledging the fullest support to the Central Committee's attitude toward Trotzky. Following his tactics of last year, the War Minister maintains a discreet silence. He has not yet uttered a single word, neither has he spoken nor in the press, and there are indications that he does not even attend to the ordinary routine of business in his office. The executive work of the War Council is now directed by M.

Frunze, Trotzky's assistant.

Political observers seem to think that Trotzky's adversaries have scored a complete victory over the war chief, but they believe that the party leaders will not attempt to dethrone him altogether.

RUM LAUNCH OWNER AND SON
REPORTED SLAIN BY ROBBERS

Held Up, Shot and Handcuffed Bodies Tossed Overboard, Canadian Authorities Say.

By the Associated Press.

VICTORIA, B. C., Nov. 28.—

Capt. W. G. Gillis and his son William, 17 years old, were believed to have been held up and murdered aboard their liquor-laden launch, the Beryl G. off Sydney Island, by robbers, one of them disguised as a policeman, the authorities said yesterday, following the finding of the abandoned craft 60 miles north of Seattle.

The captain and his son were shot, and, it is believed, after the liquor was transferred, their bodies were handcuffed together and thrown overboard.

JURY HOLDS TWO NEGROES IN KILLING OF BIEDERMAN

Men Were Identified as Having Been in Store at
Time Merchant Was Lying Unconscious.

VICTIM HAD BEEN
IN FEAR OF THEM

One Prisoner in Hospital
Was Shot and Recaptured
Following Escape
From Police Station.

Two negroes were held for homicide by a Coroner's verdict today in the murder of Max Biederman in a holdup at his hardware store at 1407 Franklin avenue Monday noon. They have been identified as having been at the store when Biederman was lying unconscious inside with his head battered by a bottle.

The prisoners and addresses they gave are Sam Sherman, 35 years old, 1414 Franklin avenue, and James Addison, 36, 920 North Fifteenth street. Sherman also said he lived with Addison. They have been identified also as men of whom Biederman expressed fear.

Their arrest resulted from a statement by Floyd A. Elliott of 1008 North Sixteenth street, who had seen Biederman frequently in a friendship of 26 years. About three months ago, he said, Biederman told him two negroes had visited the store and acted peculiarly, appearing possibly to be looking for money. Three weeks ago the same pair entered the store in Elliott's presence, and afterwards Biederman told Elliott they were the same, and said he was afraid of them.

WITNESSES IDENTIFY MEN.

Elliott identified Sherman and Addison, whom they were arrested Tuesday and Wednesday. The pair he saw, James Coughlin of 1451½ Franklin avenue, who found Biederman's body, identified Addison as the negro he saw leaving the store when he entered it, and Sherman as the negro he found inside at the time Biederman lay behind a counter.

The police found a cap, collar and tin box in Addison's room. Coughlin said Addison was wearing the cap and collar when he left the hardware shop and he said the box looked like one of Biederman's. Coughlin said he identified the two negroes he saw when the inquest opened Tuesday, before the arrest of Sherman and Addison. Today he identified Addison at the inquest and Addison's cap and collar. Police reports told of the other identifications. Elliott did not testify.

PRISONERS DENY GUILT.

Both prisoners have denied guilt. Addison declined to make a statement at the inquest. Sherman was not present, for he was shot in an attempted escape Wednesday evening and is in the city hospital with bullet wounds in the left shoulder, thigh and right leg. He jumped from a second-story window of police headquarters, where he had been seated in a detective's room, 25 feet to the ground, climbed over a six-foot iron fence just north of headquarters, was knocked down by an automobile in Twelfth street, but got up and ran on to Fourteenth street and Clark avenue before bullets fired by pursuing policemen and detectives felled him. He feigned death at the hospital that night.

Sherman claimed he was at a downtown real estate office paying rent at the time of the murder. A clerk at the office said, however, he was positive he was after 1 p.m. Monday when Sherman was there. Addison claimed he was visiting a woman at the time, but she declared he had not been there.

The murder resulted from robbery, the police believe. It has been established that all the money found on Biederman when he was shot was one dollar in his coat pocket, his two pocket books being gone. His widow said he should have had $30 to $50. About 100 other negroes were arrested in a dragnet, but have been released.

AUTO ACCIDENT INCREASE

26 PER CENT IN ENGLAND

All Sorts of Vehicles Tending to Greater Speed, Says Highway Director.

Correspondence of the Associated Press.

LONDON, Nov. 14.—Motor cars in England have not yet become so common that they kill as many people each year as does influenza, which statistics show to be the case in America, but the toll of life on the highways is becoming a matter of concern over here.

In the past 12 months the number of road accidents increased 26 per cent over the previous year.

Sir Henry P. Maybury, Director-General of Roads in the Ministry of Transport, told a recent meeting of motor manufacturers that he has been impressed with the growing tendency to increased speeds by all sorts of vehicles.

High speed driving is more dangerous in England than in almost any other country with good roads.

For the country highways seldom keep to a straight line for any considerable distance.

It is doubtful if they ever will, unless automobiles become considerably more numerous and new roads are demanded.

One of the chief charms of England is her winding, narrow roads, lined with hedges and few want to see them given up merely for the sake of getting from place to place in less time.

TWO SUSPECTS IDENTIFIED IN

$83,800 BANK ROBBERY

Three Others Also Arrested at

Peoria for Vermont, Ill., Holdup.

By the Associated Press.

PEORIA, Ill., Nov. 28.—Two of five men arrested here last night as suspects in the bank robbery in Vermont, Ill., last week, were positively identified by officials of the bank, and one of the two was identified as the "heavy man" who covered himself in a bank at Saco last year while his companions escaped with $18,000 loot.

It was disclosed today that loss in the Vermont bank robbery amounted to $33,800, of which $2800 was in cash and $30,000 in negotiable bonds. Only $600 has been recovered.

Edward Morgan, 36 years old, of Akron, O., and Clifton Swift, 29, of Peoria, were the two identified.

Swift was named for the two robbers.

Officers of the bank arrived here this morning to work with the police who captured the five men during a raid on a private residence last night, after finding an automobile used in the Vermont robbery.

BERLIN TO USE BUSES
TO SPEED CITY TRAFFIC260 Modern Passenger Carriers to Be Installed on 14 Lines

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
LONDON, Nov. 12.—Confronted with increasing street traffic, Berlin has decided to operate automobile buses. During 1925, 260 buses running on 14 different lines, will be installed. The new cars will seat 54 persons each and will have upper decks.

Manager Kaufman of the Berlin Autobus Co., who recently went to the United States to study city transportation conditions, believes the bus is the vehicle of the future for congested metropolitan districts. He says that the Berlin buses use more powerful motors than are customary in America, which makes possible a quicker start, and that the local custom of stopping only at designated streets results in a speedy service.

CIVITAN CLUB TO URGE RIVER-FRONT IMPROVEMENTMethod Accomplishing Aim Will Be Outlined at Later Meeting—Seymour Stewart Named President.

Improvement of the city's river front has been decided on as the principal objective for the coming year of the Civitan Club. A recommendation for this was presented by the Public Affairs Committee at a meeting Tuesday.

Methods to be followed in furtherance of this object will be outlined later. The club, in an announcement, expressed the feeling that the public and city officials are impressed with the desirability of river-front improvement. River-front improvement was suggested recently also by the Courthouse Referendum Committee, after its proposal seeking to have the new courthouse built on Broadway was defeated.

The Civitan Club worked this year for rapid transit. It has elected Seymour Stewart president for the next year.

LONDON, Nov. 10.—As a result of an error on the part of Britain's Food Ministry during the war, a gift of $150,000 to found scholarships in certain agricultural colleges is contemplated by a number of dairy companies which benefited by the mistake.

In 1918 someone in the Ministry erroneously imposed a levy of 2 pence a gallon on all milk transported from the southwestern counties to other parts of England, and following legal action by the dairies the money has been refunded. It is now proposed to form a trust fund and devote the income to scholarships for the benefit of sons of milk producers in the counties concerned.

UNIDENTIFIED MAN FOUND DEAD NEAR BARRACKS ROADBody Discovered in Ditch Was Dressed in Light Shirt and

PROPOSED BUS
BILL ASSAILEDHead of People's Motorbus
Co. Heard on the Measure by Committee of Aldermen.

HE CITES TAXES PAID BY UNITED RAILWAYS

Contends Levies Now Made Against His Concern Equal Those of Street Car Company.

Reading a pamphlet in opposition to the pending ordinance for rigid control of busses here, to the Aldermanic Public Utilities Committee Wednesday afternoon, Richard W. Meade, president and general manager of the People's Motorbus Co., declared the idea of the ordinance was taken and seemed to be that the city taxes paid by the bus company were equal to the city, county, State and Federal taxes paid by the trolley system.

Meade said the present taxation of busses, including 3 per cent on gross fares collected, compares favorably with amounts paid by bus companies in other cities. Mentioning the proposal to make the total of all bus taxes paid the city alone equal 12 per cent of gross fares collected, he pointed out that the United Railways had stated that 12 per cent of its gross operating revenue was being paid out in taxes and for paving its tracks as required.

Meade's Figures on Taxes.

But the United Railways 12 per cent figure represents city, county, State and Federal taxes, Meade said. He gave the United Railways figure for city taxes and paving as 3.89 per cent, almost exactly what the bus company now pays, and said this is the only tax that can be compared properly with the bus tax.

The People's company, in seven months of operation last year, paid a total of 11.12 per cent of gross operating revenue in taxes to all governmental bodies, comparable to the figure, Meade declared. Next year the busses will be subject to the State gasoline tax, which will increase their figure to 12.02 per cent. The proposed tax arrangement had it been effective last year, would have taken 19.3 per cent of bus operating revenue, Meade added. He pointed out that the trolley system owns much more real estate than the bus system.

The new ordinance, Meade's pamphlet asserted, would put the People's company out of business and would prevent others from starting, and it shows a spirit of hostility to busses. He decried the revision for arbitrary revocation of bus permits and lack of provision for purchase by the city of the bus system should the permits be revoked.

Argument as to Investors.

Investors would consider the ordinance an open declaration of war on busses by the city, Meade averred, although his company has invested $1,250,000 here and is prepared to spend more. (The company attorney said it was spending $500,000 more now.) Other declarations made by Meade were:

Service for neglected sections of the city has been provided by busses, thereby adding "millions of dollars" to property value, which is subject to taxes. The provision that bus passengers shall not wait more than 10 minutes to get a seat nor see more than one other pass without vacant seat does not allow for quick gatherings of crowds over which the bus system has no control, as at baseball games and theaters. A bus fare pays for service and comfort, a reserved seat. Buses afford transportation for women and girls free from annoyances sometimes encountered on crowded cars.

In this connection, Meade said, there is a moral side to crowding in street cars, which, as the city grows, is increasing all the time.

An engineer's survey in Chicago showed that one car like those used here would carry as many passengers as 45 automobiles, and that the average automobile requires about 34 square feet of street space per passenger, as compared with three square feet for a bus which carries 48 persons.

Consulting Engineer Quoted.

The pamphlet quoted a report by James C. Travilla, consulting highway engineer and former Street Commissioner: "The operation of double-deck busses such as are being used in St. Louis and other large cities will not shorten the life of a properly designed and constructed street pavement, nor increase the maintenance charges more than the average heavy vehicular traffic." Travilla added the opinion that busses operating on Shaw Boulevard between Spring and Vandeventer avenues have not increased the street repair costs.

The pamphlet gave specifications to the effect that busses are built as to injure streets far less than trucks do and said that Chicago busses run on 112 miles of park roads and boulevards where trucks are barred.

"The history of transportation in American cities," Meade went on, "has always been that new and better services not only build up a traffic for themselves, but in the development of the city, due to their installation, bring new traffic to the older facilities. If, in any case, the bus is a competitor of the street car with its lower fare, it is only in the same sense that a good hotel is a competitor of the boarding house or a cigar the competitor of a pipe. The bus in St. Louis today is reclaiming much of the traffic irretrievably lost by the street cars to the private automobile and is thereby relieving congestion. Motorbus operation is no longer an experiment with us. Personally I have devoted 20 years to it. We have all the necessary qualification."

Statement on Bus Earnings.

Robert Burkham, attorney for the bus company, said the profits in its 18 months of operation were $66,559, and that it hadn't paid 1 gineer, said the ordinance was drawn by him not to kill busses but to establish a permanent policy. About 75 persons interested in or against bus service in various localities attended the hearing and several of them spoke. There will be later hearings.

MOSCOW, Nov. 28.—The question of the religious education of children is one of the greatest problems of the Russian people. Frequently it is the cause of dissension between father and mother, leading to divorce and separation. In many cases the state has been called upon to settle disputes arising out of this question. A unique case recently came before a Moscow Judge. A wife complained that her husband had objected to the Christianizing of their children, for which reason she left him.

She demanded from her husband sufficient money to rear and educate the children, which the husband refused to pay, arguing that his wife intended to give religious instruction to the children.

The father then took the case into court and asked the Judge to place the children in a children's home in order to save them from THREE HUNTERS ARRESTED

Game Law Violations Charged by Deputy.

Three hunters were arrested in St. Louis County yesterday for game law violations, by Deputy Game and Fish Commissioner O. J. Brancker.

San Patricio, 22, of 1514 Ober avenue, was arrested at Bellefontaine road and Larimore avenue and charged with hunting and being in possession of game without a license. A. S. Sorenson, 44, of 5401 Gilmore avenue, was held for shooting on a public highway at Flairissant road in Jennings Heights. Paul Gisika, 23, of 4131 North Second street, was arrested at Bellefontaine and St. Cy: roads for hunting without a license.

Golden Wedding Anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Maxfield celebrated their golden wedding anniversary this week in Alton at the home of their son, J. H. Maxfield. More than 100 guests called on the couple, including five who attended the wedding 50 years ago. Mrs. Maxfield was a native of Alton, her maiden name being Amelia Albon. Maxfield was born in New Boston, Ill., but located in Alton in early manhood. For 40 years he was superintendent of grounds and buildings at Monticello Seminary. The couple have two daughters and four sons.

STAR WITNESS IN FRICKER CASE DIES

Testimony of Rudolph Kamuf Figured Prominently in Murder Trial Conviction.

Rudolph Kamuf, the 68-year-old farmhand who appeared as the star witness for the State in the murder trial of Emil Fricker last week, died in the Madison County Hospital at Edwardsville today. For several months he had been a sufferer from asthma and heart disease and had to be carried to the witness stand at the trial. His testimony, however, figured prominently in the conviction of Fricker, his former employer, for the murder of Robert Kehrl, another farmhand, on May 7, 1920. As is known, life imprisonment was recommended for Fricker by the jury. Sentence will be formally pronounced after arguments on a motion for a new trial is heard today.

of, who was born in St. Louis, had been employed by the Fricker family on a farm near Highland for 20 years. A short time after Fricker was arrested for the murder of John Nungesser, his neighbor, and former employer, on Sept. 15, last, Kamuf was told by his physician that he had only a short time to live. He then made a signed confession that Kehrl's death, which for four years had passed as a suicide, was the work of Fricker and that his employer had compelled him by threats to keep silence.

Kamuf had no relatives. Prior to his removal to Edwardsville for the trial he had been an inmate of an old people's home at Carlyle.

1800 CHILDREN DO HOMAGE TO LINCOLN

Three Train Loads Visit Springfield, Ill., for Impressive Program.

By the Associated Press
SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Nov. 28.—Warm and eager in spite of a crust of snow that covered portions of their train, 1200 Iowa and Missouri school children, here on a pilgrimage to Lincoln's tomb, arrived in Springfield shortly before noon today. All three sections of the train were delayed by a heavy snowfall in the morning.

The children were greeted at the train by a large delegation of Springfield school children, headed by the 50-piece Springfield High School band.

Youngsters All Well.

An ambulance taken to the train by the local Kiwanis to care for any of the children who might be ill, drove away empty as the pilgrimage to the various points of Lincoln interest in the city started. The schedule called for visits to the Lincoln home, the scene of his famous Springfield addresses, the old county courthouse and Lincoln's tomb.

Another feature of the program was the planting of "The Lincoln Oak."

Dinner in the evening will be taken at the high school before the departure for home at 7:30.

Visit to Old Home.

Addresses on the day's program will be made by Earl Ferguson of Shenandoah and the Rev. H. H. Pittman of Springfield, originators of the Lincoln visit idea.

Visits to the home from which Lincoln left to the White House and the State Capitol will complete the program. Belts and mementoes of the martyred President will be given particular attention.

The children, some from Missouri, traveling in three special trains, awoke early today after a night in which excitement had wrought havoc with slumber. They had breakfast at Jacksonville, the first scheduled stop after Shenandoah, Ia., on the trip which its sponsors, the Shenandoah Kiwanis Club, hoped would serve to "increase patriotism and bring the children closer to the great American." Special agents and official chaperones of the party spent the night watching and caring for the 41 carloads of youngsters.

The Father of Waters.

In one coach of the section, a young traveler settled down for a night's rest, with the small oak tree beside him said: "We got to get up early tomorrow. You want to see the Mississippi River, don'tcha?" His companion, apparently more wordly wise, qualified his answer: "Sure, but I've seen it already and it ain't no bigger than the ocean." "I'll bet it is," was the retort. "It's called the 'Father of Waters.'

Some of the older children talked about Lincoln and others played ukuleles and mandolins and sang school songs.

A proposed stopover at Hannibal, Mo., once the home of Mark Twain, on the return home, has been omitted because of a disadvantageous schedule.

His companion, apparently more wordly wise, qualified his answer: "Sure, but I've seen it already and it ain't no bigger than the ocean."

CENTENARY COLLEGE TEAM BATTERS BILLIKEN LINE AND WINS, 23-14

Ferrall and Leteer Gain At Will; St. Louis Scores Twice on Forward Passes

Hurried Punts Costly to Blue and White, Southerners Scoring Three Touchdowns After Poor Kicks—Shreveport Team Too Heavy and Fast for Billikens.

The St. Louis University football squad, laboring under a weight disadvantage of 25 pounds to the man, went down fighting before the Centenary College avalanche at St. Louis University Athletic Field yesterday afternoon, 23 to 14. The contest closed the season for the Billikens.

"Bo" McMillin's huskies were too heavy and fast for the Billikens and did not wait long before running up a lead of 17 points. The Shreveport eleven was the most convincing machine that the "Blue and White" had ever faced and again displayed a relentless and sustained attack. All the visiting players were well-seasoned, experienced football men.

On both offense and defense the "Gentlemen," as McMillin's men have been called, were powerful, the only weak point in their armor being a certain vulnerability to forward passes, which the Billikens located and capitalized.

"Mexico" Ferrall, 200-pound halfback and Leteer, 210-pound back, proved to be two of the lead runners in attacks from the local field this season. At line plowing, off-tackle shots or end running, they pushed, wriggled and dove for yardage.

Interference is Good.

They were aided in their work by fine interference which virtually did away with the Billiken line, leaving the work of stopping their rushes to the secondary defense. Fienneken and White were also impressive players.

The much heralded "Cal" Hubbard, lived fully up to expectations as to avoidance and merely had to lean his 255 pounds on a Billiken tackler to take him out.

Pierson, at guard, gave the outstanding performance of the day on defense and he's up almost as many St. Louis plays as the rest of his mates combined. Pierson scales 190, being one of the "pony" linemen.

O'Reilly's fine work as field general, at which position he excels, was outstanding and enabled his men to easily win this position for next year. The youthful quartet displayed the cool judgment and quick decision which make a real leadership and starred in forward passing and line bucking all year.

Ramacciotti Punts Poorly and Foe Gets Rall 5 Yards From Goal

After receiving the first kickoff, Fienneken darted onto the safety man's head but "Face" recovered and returned to the 35-yard line. Fienneken was stopped twice and Ferrall iced past midfield. It seemed the Billikens would score early when Ran c. 6000 loose, but a poor punt. Following the kick off, the entire Centenary backfield started in crashing down the field well into St. Louis territory where Ferrall placed a punt out on the 17-yard line. Stanton's kick followed out of bounds on his 29-yard line and after gains by White and Fienneken, Weekly counted the last Centenary touchdown, despite the re-appearance of Ramacciotti in the lineup.

Billikens Take to Air.

In the last period, neither side, except for a nice run by White, could make consistent gains and the Billikens, starting on their 33-yard line, opened up with a brilliant aerial attack which brought their second touchdown. O'Reilly was in fine throwing form and McKenzie and Stanton starred in receiving. O'Reilly made the final play for touchdown and kicked off. The Billikens were stop, dead and when O'Reilly tried a drop kick, Maddox knocked it clear to midfield and recovered it.

Ferrall punt, to the Billikens' 5-yard line and when Ramacciotti's kick went straight up in the air, the visitors recovered the ball on the 5-yard line. Farrell went over in two plays.

Ramacciotti was badly injured at the beginning of the second quarter and had to be carried to the side lines. With "Ram" out, the light Billiken back field took a foot on the ball on charging beef and only a 15-yard penalty for roughing kept the visitors from a touchdown. Place then kicked a field goal from placement.

Another Hurried Punt.

The Gentlemen's next touchdown also came indirectly as the result of a hurried hit at this time by Stanton who, after the kickoff, sliced his boot 10' of bounds on his 30-yard line. Schwartz and Higley showed a sudden lack of power threw a sudden 10' hit for a total of 25 yards and Farrell punt, to the 17-yard line. The others were even. There were no knockdowns, St. Louis' weight was proved very confusing to the spectators who were not in position to see the tripping.

Horne, the guard, accused of tripping, protested vigorously and finally walked off the field.

Fischer and Lewis took the ball to the 12-yard line and O'Toole caught a pass over the goal line.

Place then kicked a field goal from placement.

Another Hurried Punt.

The Gentlemen's next touchdown also came indirectly as the result of a hurried hit at this time by Stanton who, after the kickoff, sliced his boot 10' of bounds on his 30-yard line. Schwartz and Higley showed a sudden lack of power threw a sudden 10' hit for a total of 25 yards and Farrell punt, to the 17-yard line. The others were even. There were no knockdowns, St. Louis' weight was proved very confusing to the spectators who were not in position to see the tripping.

Horne, the guard, accused of tripping, protested vigorously and finally walked off the field.

Fischer and Lewis took the ball to the 12-yard line and O'Toole caught a pass over the goal line.

Summary: Touchdowns, for Centenary, Farrell (2). Weekly, For St. Louis, O'Toole. Extra points, by Weaver (2). O'Reilly (2). Field goals, by Place. Forwards, by Ferrall. Touchdowns, for Centenary, Letteer for Anderson, Weekly for Place, Yorke for Fienneken, Schwarzer for Faulkner, Fienneken and White were also impressive players.

The much heralded "Cal" Hubbard, lived fully up to expectations as to avoidance and merely had to lean his 255 pounds on a Billiken tackler to take him out.

Pierson, at guard, gave the outstanding performance of the day on defense and he's up almost as many St. Louis plays as the rest of his mates combined. Pierson scales 190, being one of the "pony" linemen.

O'Reilly's fine work as field general, at which position he excels, was outstanding and enabled his men to easily win this position for next year. The youthful quartet displayed the cool judgment and quick decision which make a real leadership and starred in forward passing and line bucking all year.

The Billikens proved to be the most consistent and possibly by a poor punt. Following the kick off, the entire Centenary backfield started in crashing down the field well into St. Louis territory where Ferrall placed a punt out on the 17-yard line. Stanton's kick followed out of bounds on his 29-yard line and after gains by White and Fienneken, Weekly counted the last Centenary touchdown, despite the re-appearance of Ramacciotti in the lineup.

The Billikens lost, to the Billikens' 5-yard line and when Ramacciotti's kick went straight up in the air, the visitors recovered the ball on the 5-yard line. Farrell went over in two plays.

Ramacciotti was stopped twice and Ferrall iced past midfield. It seemed the Billikens would score early when Ran c. 6000 loose, but a poor punt. The Billikens took to the air. In the last period, neither side, except for a nice run by White, could make consistent gains and the Billikens, starting on their 33-yard line, opened up with a brilliant aerial attack which brought their second touchdown. O'Reilly was in fine throwing form and McKenzie and Stanton starred in receiving. O'Reilly made the final play for touchdown and kicked off. The Billikens were stop, dead and when O'Reilly tried a drop kick, Maddox knocked it clear to midfield and recovered it.

Ferrall punt, to the Billikens' 5-yard line and when Ramacciotti's kick went straight up in the air, the visitors recovered the ball on the 5-yard line. Farrell went over in two plays.

Ramacciotti was badly injured at the beginning of the second quarter and had to be carried to the side lines. With "Ram" out, the light Billiken back field took a foot on the ball on charging beef and only a 15-yard penalty for roughing kept the visitors from a touchdown. Place then kicked a field goal from placement.

WASHINGTON CLOSES SEASON WITH VICTORY OVER MISSISSIPPI, 12-3

Army Favored to Defeat Middies
In Annual Game

Scoring of Next Saturday's Rivals Equal, but Cadets Have Displayed Better Football.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—The Army will be favorite for the annual game next Saturday at Baltimore between the Government schools at West Point and Annapolis. The results of the games that have been played all of the season point to a stronger Army than Navy eleven in both vital essentials of football—attack and defense.

The points scored by both elevens have been about the same. The total of the Army to date has been 93 points while the Navy has scored 91. The teams that have been faced by the rivals have not been alike in power or skill. The Army took on more hard foes than the Navy.

The first trial that the Navy got was against Marquette, an eleven that had been playing plenty of good football out in Wisconsin which had been overlooked. Both teams went along to the last period without scoring and then Marquette won the game 21 to 3. That did not look good one cent's worth. Right on top of that the Navy went to Princeton and after winning the first, the Tiger, by a capital showing, 44 to 0, suddenly wilted in the latter part of the game and lost 17 to 14. West Virginia Wesleyan defeated the Navy next as the Midshipmen could not get out of their slump.

Navy Tied Penn State.

The following game was with Penn State and the Navy appeared a lot better. They failed to win, but held Penn State to six points.

The Navy showed real speed when they defeated Vermont, 53 to 0, and then lost to Bucknell, a powerful eleven which has been recruited within the last year, by 6—0. The Navy in 11 of its games has shown possibilities, although in the first

BETTER THAN WHISKEY FOR COLDS AND FLU

The sensation of the drug trade is Aspirine, the two-minute cold and cough reliever, authoritatively guaranteed by the laboratories, tested, approved and most enthusiastically recommended by the medical authorities, and proclaimed by the people as ten times as quick and effective as whiskey, rock and rye, or any other cold and cough remedy they have ever tried.

All drug stores are supplied with the wonderful elixir, so all you have to do is to step into the nearest drug store, hand the clerk a dollar for a bottle of Aspirine and tell him to serve you two teaspoon-

tus. With your watch in your hand, take the drink at one swallow and your money back in two minutes if you cannot feel the distressing symptoms of your cold fading away like a dream, within the time limit. Don't let the druggists all drugists invite you and expect you to try it. Everybody's doing it.

Take the remainder of the bottle home to your wife and children, for Aspirine is by far the safest and most effective, the easiest to take and the most agreeable cold and cough remedy for children, adults. Quickest relief for a harsh cold and children's chok-

EX-HEAD OF ALABAMA BANKERS HELD ON PROHIBITION CHARGE

A. L. Staples Indicted by U. S. Jury, Politician and Attorney Face Perjury Bills.

MOBILE, Ala., Nov. 28.—Charged in three Government indictments with prohibition law violations, Alfred L. Staples, former banker, business man and at one time president of the Alabama Bankers' Association, was placed under arrest at the Federal Building here today.

Staples is charged in three counts of the indictment with conspiracy to violate the prohibition act, conspiracy to violate the tariff act by smuggling liquor and conspiracy to bribe Federal officers. The defendant made bond in the sum of $15,000, the bond being fixed at $5,000 in each case.

The indictments were returned by the Federal grand jury which concluded its labors Wednesday afternoon.

Robert Ennis, known in Mobile political circles, was arrested this morning on indictment on a charge of perjury. He is charged in one count with conspiracy to commit perjury and two charging perjury. He was released under bonds of $1000 in each case.

Percy Kearns, attorney, who has already entered a plea of guilty in the former liquor conspiracy trial here and is now under sentence, was reinstated in the perjury cases on the same counts as Ennis.

The indictments against Staples follow additional testimony which is said to have been given by the defendants convicted in the liquor conspiracy trial here last spring.

HARVARD TO NAME ARCHITECT

BOSTON, Nov. 28.—Six architectural firms in New York and Minneapolis have been selected as winners in the first stage of the competition to select an architect for the $5,000,000 group of buildings to be put up for the Harvard Business School under the George F. Baker Foundation. The following will enter the second stage of the competition: Ayer Embury, H. Raymond M. Hood, Ludlow & Peabody with Harold F. Kellogg of Boston, Benjamin W. Morris with Eric Gugler, and Egerton Swartwout, all of New York, and Hewitt & Brown of Minneapolis.

Egerton Swartwout, together with his late partner, Evaris Tracy, designed the Missouri State Capitol, among other buildings. Together with the six firms selected by the jury the following who have heretofore designed satisfactory buildings for the university, for Harvard and for the donor, or who have official connection with the school of architecture of the university, will also compete: Coolidge, Sheppard, Buffington, Abbott, Boston, Prof. J. J. Haffner, with Charles Shaw & Hepburn, Cambridge; Guy Lowell, Boston; McKim, Mead & White, New York; Parker, Thomas & Rice, Boston, and Walker & Gillette, New York.

FIFTY-TWO

THE things that had mattered so vitally didn't seem to be important, somehow, now. The people who had seemed so desirable had become suddenly insignificant. The games he had played appeared silly games. He was seeing things through Dallas O'Mara's wise, beauty-loving eyes. Strangely enough, he did not realize that this girl saw life from much the same angle as that at which his mother regarded it. In the last few years his mother had often offended him by her attitude toward these rich and powerful friends of his—their ways, their games, their amusements, their manners. And her way of living in turn offended him. On his rare visits to the farm it seemed to him there was always some drab dejected female in the kitchen or living room or on the porch—a woman with broken teeth and comic shoes and tragic eyes—drinking great drafts of coffee and telling her woes to Selina—Selina Gampish ladies smelling unpleasantly of peppermint and perspiration and poverty. "And he ain't had a lick of work since November."

"You don't say! That's terrible!"

He wished she wouldn't.

Sometimes old Aug Hempel drove out there and Dirk would come upon the two snickering wickedly together about something that he knew concerned the North Shore crowd.

It had been years since Selina had said, sociably, "What did they have for dinner, Dirk? H'm?"

"Well—soup—"

"Nothing before the soup?"

"Oh, yeah. Some kind of a—one of those canape things, you know. Caviare."

"My, Caviare!"

Sometimes Selina giggled like a naughty girl at things that Dick had taken seriously. The fox hunts, for example. Lake Forest had taken to fox hunting, and the Tippencanoe crowd kept kennels. Dick had learned to ride—pretty well. An Englishman—a certain Captain Stokes-Beatty—had initiated the North Shore into the mysteries of fox hunting. Hunting! The North Shore learned to say nec'ry and conservatory. Captain Stokes-Beatty was a tall, bow-legged, and somewhat horse-faced young man, remote in manner. The nice Farnhams' girl seemed fate to marry him. Paula had a hunting match at Normandy and it had been very successful, though the American men had balked a little at the deviled kidneys. The food had been patterned as far as possible after the pale flabby hams served at English, hunt breakfasts and ruined in an atmosphere of lukewarm steam. The women were slim and perfectly tailored. But wore their hunting clothes a trifle uneasily and self-consciously like girls in their first low-cut party dresses. Most of the men had turned stubborn on the subject of pink coats, but Capt. Stokes-Beatty wore his handsomely. The fox hunt was a little and somewhat de-sedated—looking trim and well-shipped in a crate from the south and on being released had the look of a condemned sentinel. The crude drawing of the Haymarket; the wine-red cashmere dress; some faded brittle flowers.

Dick was giving a "large—but not too large—dinner on the second night. She was very animated about it, excited, gay. "They say," she told Dirk, "that Goguet doesn't eat anything but hard-boiled eggs and rusks. Oh, well, the others won't object to squash, too." And he was right. And his host was by his farm in Brittany. Pool's stunning—dark and sombre and very white teeth."

"Now, Mother, don't be funny," He told her about the breakfast.

"Well, but it's silly, Dirk. It's smart to copy from another country the things that that country does better than we do. England does gardens and wood-fires and dogs and tweeds and walking shoes and pipes and leisure better than we do. But those Luke-warm steaming breakfasts of theirs? It's because they haven't got most of them. No Kansas or Nebraska farmer's wife would stand for one of their kitchens—not for a minute. And the hired man would balk at such bacon." She giggled. "Oh, well, if you're going to talk like that."

Dallas never irritated him. She rested him, he told himself. He would arm himself against her, but one minute after meeting her he would sink gratefully and resistlessly into her quiet depths. Sometimes he thought all this was an assumed manner in her.

"This calm of yours—this effortlessness," he said to her one day, "is a pose, isn't it?" Anything to get her notice!

"Partly," Dallas had replied, amiably. "It's a nice pose, though, don't you think?"

What are you going to do with a girl like that?

It was the woman who could hold him entirely, and who never held out a finger to hold him. He tore at the truth with a fierce difference, though he only cut and bruised his own hands in doing it.

"Is it because I'm a successful business man that you don't like me?"

"But I do like you."

"That you don't find me attractive, then."

"But I think you're an awfully attractive man. Dangerous, that's what."

"Oh, don't be the wide-eyed ingenue. You know damned well what I mean. You've got me and you don't want me. If I had been a successful architect instead of a successful business man would that have made any difference?" He

YOUR BOY AND HIS MONEY

By Wm. A. McKeever

XAMINE the "balance" in your boy's pocket. Is he learning to keep a "reserve"? Can he carry some loose change without having it burn a hole in his pocket?

Go to the matter of teaching your boy to carry money in a common-sense manner.

A youth was started with $2 to be held as reserve and $1 to spend as his weekly allowance. The scheme has worked well for the first month. The "pocket reserve" varied somewhat from day to day, as it should do, but the average of $2 in this ready-to-use place is his rule.

What is the use of keeping $2 in his pocket all the time if he does not spend it? I hear someone asking the question, and to answer it will give a key to business success, not only for boys, but for any age of adults.

First, there is the valuable item of self-respect. To have a reserve means a feeling of security and independence. For the business man it often means precisely the courage necessary to go on from one enterprise to a bigger one. People who live from hand to mouth are usually sufferers from nervous fears. They are panicky.

Second, the carrying of a reserve gives elasticity to investments. At times more than the spending allowance will be needed and it will be made to hand without running to "the bank" for it. Then a very important matter—the depleted reserve will be quickly restored from the allowance of the week to follow.

Third, the habit of carrying his own money and of being responsible for its use means that your boy will learn early to think in terms of business.

Do not give up with a trial or two. Someone must teach your boy to manage his business. If it is neglected now, perhaps a wife or partner will suffer seriously from the result in some future time.

Give your son a chance to make good. Explain definitely how he is to watch his expenditures for desired materials, and how he is to make an honest effort to restore quickly the "reserve" as soon as it falls below par.

He may do the thing very badly at first and satisfactorily after due attention to the matter. After a weekly check upon the attempt for a few consecutive times, you will be better enabled to adjust the allowance and the balance to his reasonable needs.

When he told Selina she flushed like a girl, as she sometimes still did when she was much excited. "Yes, I saw it in the paper. I wonder," she added, quickly, "if I shall interest him."

Then evening you might have seen her sitting, cross-legged, before the old carved chest, fingering the faded shabby time-worn objects the saving of which Dick had denounced as sentimental. The crude drawing of the Haymarket; the wine-red cashmere dress; some faded brittle flowers.

Paula was giving a "large—but not too large—dinner on the second night. She was very animated about it, excited, gay. "They say," she told Dirk, "that Goguet doesn't eat anything but hard-boiled eggs and rusks. Oh, well, the others won't object to squash, too."

"Good Lord, no! Some day I'll probably marry a horney-handed son of ton, and if I do it'll be the horney hands that will win me. If you want to know, I like 'em with the scars on them. There's something about a man who has fought for it—I don't know what it is—a look in his eye, the feel of his hand. He needn't have been successful—though he probably would be. I don't know. I'm not very good at this analysis stuff. I only know he—he, well, you haven't a mark on you. Not a mark. You quite being an architect, or whatever it was, because architecture was an uphill, disheartening job at the time. I don't say that you should have kept on. For all I know you were a bum architect. But if you had kept on—it you had love enough to keep on fighting and striving and sticking it out—why, that sight would show in your face today in your eyes and your jaw and your hands and in your way of standing and walking and sitting and talking. Listen. I'm not criticising you. But you're all smooth. I like 'em bumpy. That sounds terrible. It isn't what I mean, at all. It isn't."

"Oh, never mind," Dirk said, with a smile. "I think I know what you mean." He sat looking down at his hands, his fingers strong, unscarred hands. Suddenly and unreasonably he thought of another pair of hands—his mother's—with the knuckles enlarged, the skin broken—expressive—her life written on them. Shears. She had them. "Listen, Dallas. If I thought—I'd go back to Hollis & Sprague's and begin all over again at forty a week if I thought you'd—"

"Don't."

DAILY CROSS WORD PUZZLE

Copyright, 1924—Simon & Schuster, Inc.

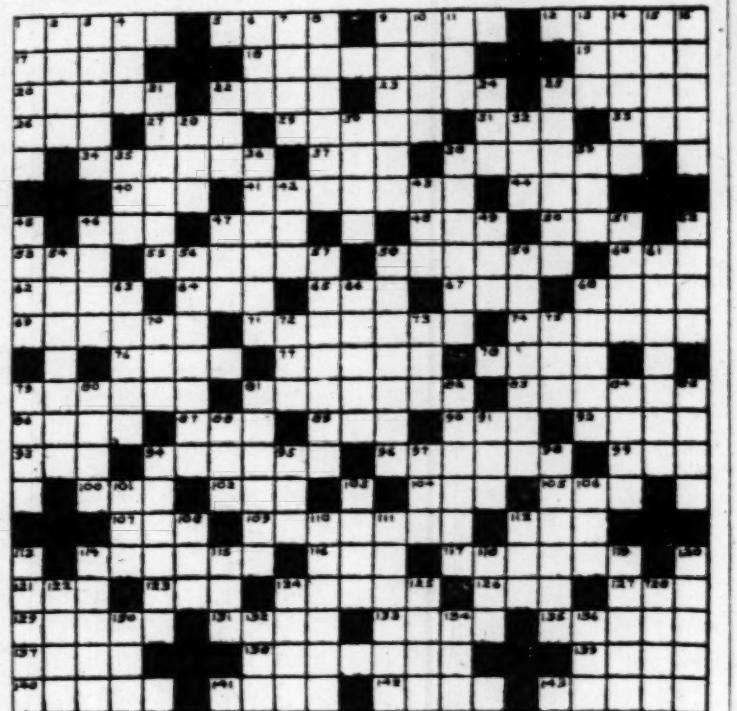

Each number in the puzzle indicates the position of the first letter of a word.

Each word reads from left to right (horizontal) or downward (vertical), according to position. Lettered in correctly, words that cross will interlock.

Each number in the white squares also refers to a definition in the accompanying table.

Each definition suggests a word possessing the exact number of letters to fit the white space allotted to it.

Each white space is to receive one letter only. Words start only in numbered squares.
